Protection of children against sexual abuse (Lanzarote Convention)

Liechtenstein ratified the Lanzarote Convention on 11 September 2015 and it entered into force in its respect on 1 Janvier 2016.

Since Liechtenstein became a Party to the Convention after the launching of the 1st monitoring round, the Lanzarote Committee did not assess the situation in its respect on the “Protection of children against sexual abuse in the circle of trust”. In 2023, the Committee however plans to launch an evaluation of the situation with respect to this theme for all Parties it had not assessed during its 1st thematic monitoring round and this will thus include Liechtenstein.

Liechtenstein was assessed under the urgent monitoring round on “Protecting children affected by the refugee crisis from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse” and on the second monitoring round on “Protecting children against sexual exploitation and sexual abuse: Addressing the challenges raised by child self-generated sexual images and/or videos.

Urgent monitoring round on “Protecting children affected by the refugee crisis from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse”

To respond to the urgent migrant and refugee situation in Europe, the Lanzarote Committee decided in 2016 to address the protection of children affected by the refugee crisis from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse through an urgent monitoring round. This resulted in a special report published in March 2017. The information submitted by Liechtenstein in the context of this round is accessible here. To follow-up on the Special report and its monitoring findings, the Committee carried out a compliance procedure to assess the conformity of Parties with the recommendations urging them to act (the “urge” recommendations), as well as those considering that they should act (the “consider” recommendations).

This was carried out between October 2017 and March 2022 and was dedicated to “Protecting children against sexual exploitation and sexual abuse facilitated by information and communication technologies (ICTs)”, with a focus on “Addressing the challenges raised by child self-generated sexual images and/or videos”. It led to the adoption of an implementation report in March 2022. The information submitted by Liechtenstein in the context of the 2nd monitoring round is available here.
