Introduction

1. The Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review, established in accordance with Human Rights Council resolution 5/1, held its twenty-eighth session from 6 November to 17th November 2017. The review of Japan was held at the 13th meeting on 14 November 2017. The delegation of Japan was headed by Mr. Yoshifumi Okamura, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Human Rights. At its 17th meeting held on 16 November 2017, the Working Group adopted the report on Japan.
2. On 13 February 2017, the Human Rights Council selected the following group of rapporteurs (troika) to facilitate the review of Japan: Belgium, Qatar and Togo.
3. In accordance with paragraph 15 of the annex to Human Rights Council resolution 5/1 and paragraph 5 of the annex to Council resolution 16/21, the following documents were issued for the review of Japan:
 - (a) A national report submitted/written presentation made in accordance with paragraph 15 (a) (A/HRC/WG.6/28/JPN/1);
 - (b) A compilation prepared by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) in accordance with paragraph 15 (b) (A/HRC/WG.6/28/JPN/2);
 - (c) A summary prepared by OHCHR in accordance with paragraph 15 (c) (A/HRC/WG.6/28/JPN/3).
4. A list of questions prepared in advance by Belgium, Brazil, Germany, Norway, Portugal, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and the United States of America, Uruguay was transmitted to Japan through the troika. These questions are available on the extranet of the UPR.

I. Summary of the proceedings of the review process

A. Presentation by the State under review

5. Japan has placed importance on fundamental values such as democracy, freedom, human rights, and the rule of law for more than 70 years since the end of World War II.
6. Japan puts emphasis on the UPR and is honoured to report on the progress of the protection and promotion of human rights over the past five years.
7. Japan concluded the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Hague Convention on Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction, the Palermo Convention, and the Trafficking in Persons Protocol.
8. As a member of the Human Rights Council from Asia, Japan has been encouraging human rights protection through submission of resolutions in the Council and bilateral dialogues. Japan also continues to actively promote development cooperation.
9. In order to realize “A society in which all women shine”, Japan formulated the Fourth Basic Plan for Gender Equality, and the Intensive Policy to Accelerate the Empowerment of Women, enforced the Act on Promotion of Women’s Participation and Advancement in the Workplace, and held the fourth World Assembly for Women.
10. Japan hopes that the 2020 Tokyo Olympic and Paralympic Games will be an opportunity to foster an inclusive society and is aiming for the realization of a “society with the Dynamic Engagement of All Citizens”. In particular, Japan enforced the Act for Eliminating Discrimination against Persons with Disabilities.

11. Japan has implemented various measures to eradicate sexual exploitation of children and tackle sexual offences and human trafficking, such as formulation of the Basic Plan on Measures against Child Sexual Exploitation, revision of the Penal Code, revision of the Action Plan to Combat Trafficking in Persons, and amendment of the Act on Punishment of Organized Crimes and Control of Crime Proceeds.
12. On the protection of the human rights of all people, including foreign nationals, Japan enforced the Hate Speech Elimination Act.
13. Under the amended Criminal Procedure Code, all detained suspects are eligible for court-appointed defence counsel, and audio-visual recording of interrogation is mandatory in cases specified by the Code.
14. Regarding the substitute detention system, besides the above amendment, the time, duration and manner of interrogations by the police are controlled by a national regulation. Furthermore, it is the judges who decide the reason or need for detention.
15. Regarding the comfort women issue, the Foreign Ministers of Japan and the Republic of Korea confirmed that the issue is “resolved finally and irreversibly”. Under the cooperation between the two countries, projects have been carried out for recovering the honour and dignity and healing the psychological wounds of former comfort women, based upon this agreement. Japan will lead the world in making this century an era in which women’s human rights are not infringed upon.
16. Japan looked forward to having future-oriented and constructive exchanges of views.

86. Based on the 2014 Action Plan, Japan continues to take a holistic approach to eradicate human trafficking, including by enhancing the protection and support of victims.
87. Japan has granted special permission to stay for all victims of trafficking in persons illegally staying in Japan.
88. Regarding conclusion of the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families, careful consideration is needed.
89. Japan has a system of provisional stay for applicants for refugee recognition without resident status. Japan reported that deportation will be suspended while the application is pending and provisional release is flexibly applied in cases where he/she is detained.
90. Japan enacted the new act for a technical intern training system which has relevant provisions and penalties to protect human rights of trainees in November 2017.
91. Freedom of expression, including that of the press, is a fundamental human right fully guaranteed by the Constitution and domestic laws and Government officials have never put pressure on journalists. The Broadcast Act is established within a framework of autonomy and independence of broadcasters, and ensures broadcasters enjoy one of the freest media circumstances.

92. Regarding violence against women, Japan has implemented measures based on law. For foreign victims in particular, language barriers have been addressed.

93. Japan has achieved reduction of long-term hospitalized patients in medical hospitals this decade. Japan promotes deinstitutionalization for the mentally disabled by expanding resources for community-based care.

134. The Maldives welcomed the ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and the Act for Eliminating Discrimination against Persons with Disabilities, and the Promotion and of Women's Participation and Advancement in the Workplace Act.
135. Mexico welcomed the ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.
136. Mongolia welcomed the ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and the enactment into an Act. It encouraged Japan to strengthen efforts to prevent child abuse and violence against women, including foreign victims.
137. Montenegro praised the promotion of women's rights and initiatives to achieve the SDGs while expressing concern about the high suspension rate of sentences for offences involving sexual exploitation of children.
138. Morocco welcomed the ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, the Convention against Transnational Organised Crimes, and human rights training for civil servants.
139. Myanmar welcomed the ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities in 2014 and the enactment into an Act.
140. Nepal welcomed the Fourth Basic Plan for Gender Equality and the ratification of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities while expressing concern about the continued use of the death penalty.
141. Paraguay welcomed the accession to the Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and the Palermo Protocol, and the Law on the Elimination of Discrimination against People with Disabilities.
142. Pakistan welcomed the Fourth Basic Plan for Gender Equality and the ratification of the Palermo Convention and Protocol.
143. Armenia welcomed human rights education programmes for civil servants and measures to promote women's and children's rights, and the Action Plan to Combat Trafficking in Persons.
144. Japan considers the individual communication procedure to be noteworthy and will continue serious consideration on this matter.
145. Human rights violations based on sexual orientation and gender identity should not be tolerated. Japan continues to make efforts in preventing discrimination.
146. On the situation in Fukushima, health management surveys for the people of Fukushima are conducted every year. The ratio of effective job offers in Fukushima is above

1. However, the number of employees in the evacuation areas has not recovered to previous levels. Mental care is provided to children affected by the disaster.

147. Japan believes each sovereign country should be allowed to make decisions on the death penalty issue independently. Domestic public opinion, the existence of extremely vicious crime cases and other factors make it inappropriate to abolish the death penalty. A moratorium is also inappropriate, since the final judgment must be executed impartially and thoroughly under the rule of law.

148. Japan reported its progress in improving prison conditions including medical care and cooling/heating, and indicated that inmates sentenced to death were treated in appropriate conditions.

149. Japan is examining what would be the most appropriate human rights remedy system based on the discussions heretofore. 311 offices of legal affairs bureaus, officials and 14,000 Human Rights Volunteers engage in a wide range of human rights counselling, remedy activities, and awareness-raising activities.

150. Japan recognizes there is a development of the widespread notion that discriminatory speech is not tolerated in society.

151. Japan is working to reduce the gender pay gap by promoting women's empowerment and improving workplace environments so that women can continue working while parenting.

152. Japan has formulated "priority policies to accelerate women's empowerment" and enhanced women's empowerment through "visualizing" current situations of female employment in the workplace.

153. Japan has been making wide-ranging efforts to protect human rights of suspects, through the aforementioned measures on the substitute-detention system.

154. The Prime Minister's statement on the 14th of August 2015 is Japan's recognition of history on the past war.

155. Japan appropriately made the decision to not designate North Korean schools for the High School Enrolment Support Fund system in accordance with the intent of the relevant laws.

156. Nobody has been punished by violating the Act on the Protection of Specially Designated Secrets and there are no circumstances, in which the press is daunted.

157. Japan recognizes that the comfort women issue is one that severely injured the honour and dignity of many women, and has extended its heartfelt apologies and remorse to the former comfort women.

158. The issues of reparations, properties and claims arising from the war have been settled through treaties, agreements and instruments between Japan and the countries concerned.

159. "Forceful taking away" of comfort women by the military and government authorities and the figure "200,000 persons" as the total number of comfort women could not be confirmed in any of the documents in the full-scale fact-finding study in the early 1990s. Furthermore, referring to comfort women as "sex slaves" is inappropriate, as it contradicts the facts.

160. In conclusion, Japan thanked the delegations for their constructive and valuable comments and reiterated its continued commitment to cooperate with the UPR and make efforts for the protection and promotion of human rights.

II. Conclusions and/or recommendations

161. The following recommendations will be examined by Japan which will provide responses in due time, but no later than the thirty-seventh session of the Human Rights Council in March 2018:
