

General Assembly

Distr.: Limited
6 May 2014

Original: English

UNEDITED VERSION

Human Rights Council
Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review
Nineteenth session
Geneva, 28 April – 9 May 2014

Draft report of the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review*

Brunei Darussalam

* The annex to the present report is circulated as received

Contents

	Paragraphs	Page
Introduction	1–4	3
I Summary of the proceedings of the review process	5–112	3
A. Presentation by the State under review	5–24	3
B. Interactive dialogue and responses by the State under review	25–112	6
II. Conclusions and/or recommendations.....	113–114	13
Annex
Composition of the delegation		25

Introduction

1. The Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review (UPR), established in accordance with Human Rights Council resolution 5/1 of 18 June 2007, held its nineteenth session from 28 April to 9 May 2014. The review of Brunei Darussalam was held at the 9th meeting on 2 May 2014. The delegation of Brunei Darussalam was headed by the Honourable Pehin Dato Lim Jock Seng, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Trade II. At its 14th meeting held on 6 May 2014, the Working Group adopted the report on Brunei Darussalam.
2. On 15 January 2014, the Human Rights Council selected the following group of rapporteurs (troika) to facilitate the review of Brunei Darussalam: Morocco, Romania, and Saudi Arabia.
3. In accordance with paragraph 15 of the annex to resolution 5/1 and paragraph 5 of the annex to resolution 16/21, the following documents were issued for the review of Brunei Darussalam:
 - (a) A national report submitted/written presentation made in accordance with paragraph 15 (a) (A/HRC/WG.6/19/BRN/1);
 - (b) A compilation prepared by OHCHR in accordance with paragraph 15 (b) (A/HRC/WG.6/19/BRN/2);
 - (c) A summary prepared by OHCHR in accordance with paragraph 15 (c) (A/HRC/WG.6/19/BRN/3).
4. A list of questions prepared in advance by Belgium, Czech Republic, Germany, Liechtenstein, Mexico, Netherlands, Slovenia, Spain, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and United States of America was transmitted to Brunei Darussalam through the troika. These questions are available on the extranet of the UPR.

I. Summary of the proceedings of the review process

A. Presentation by the State under review

5. The delegation of Brunei Darussalam was honoured to address once again the Working Group for the second cycle of the UPR. It referred to its Report, which highlighted Brunei Darussalam's ongoing work in improving the welfare of its people and also in protecting the rights of vulnerable groups, such as women, children, persons with disabilities, and the elderly. The report also included its responses to the 33 recommendations that were tabled during the first cycle.
6. The delegation reiterated that the core policy of the Government of His Majesty remained to be people-centred in all aspects, both in terms of material as well as spiritual needs. Its people continued to enjoy living in a peaceful and harmonious environment, the hallmark of the 30 years of its full independence. That would continue to be so as it strived to realise its National Vision by 2035 to become a nation with highly educated, skilled and successful citizens, who will attain a high quality of life in a dynamic and sustainable economy.
7. His Majesty's deep dedication towards the welfare of his people had ensured the provision of a first class education system; quality health services, as well as adequate housing. Citizens and residents alike, continued to enjoy the generous subsidies granted by the Government for several essential commodities such as fuel, gas, water, rice, and sugar.

8. Education remained one of the top priorities, with nearly 13 per cent of the national budget allocated to it. The provision of free, quality education from early childhood to tertiary-level, equally accessible to both boys and girls had been further enhanced. Scholarships to study in the country and abroad were granted to eligible students. Brunei Darussalam had attained one of the highest literacy rates in the region. Technical and vocational qualification opportunities were provided for its people to gain the necessary skills required to increase their competitiveness and improve their self-development. Its efforts were in line with the goals of UNESCO's 'Education for All', and the country ranked 34 out of 127 countries in UNESCO's most recent Development Index. It had also worked with UNICEF and UNESCO to complement its nine-year compulsory education legislation currently in place through enhancing the Early Childhood Care and Education Programme.

9. The delegation highlighted that Brunei Darussalam being a small nation, the health of its people was vital to its development. His Majesty's Government therefore placed great importance to the provision of a comprehensive health care system. Free medical healthcare was provided for citizens. The delegation was proud to say that Brunei Darussalam had achieved many of the targets set by the World Health Organization.

10. On providing a healthy environment for all, the Government had adopted an environmental policy direction and strategies in implementing its National Development Plan. The delegation was pleased to say that one of the most valuable assets of Brunei Darussalam was its clean air. It was home to well-preserved pristine rainforests with a rich biodiversity, its national pride for future generations. Together with the international community, it shared the responsibility to save the Earth from global warming. It was also cooperating with its neighbours, Malaysia and Indonesia through the 'Heart of Borneo' project, whereby about 58 per cent of its lands had been reserved in efforts to preserving the planet.

11. The delegation stated that His Majesty's strong commitment to his people was apparent during good times and also in times of need. One example of His Majesty's continuous concern for the well-being of his people was during the occurrence of flash floods in some parts of the country in early 2014 where His Majesty personally visited the affected areas to ensure that the authorities responded immediately and efficiently to secure the safety of those concerned. A considerable amount of resources had been allocated to relief and repair efforts and a budget of about US$55 million had been earmarked for flood mitigation measures.

12. Those were just some of the efforts Brunei Darussalam had made in promoting and protecting the bigger aspects of human rights, which were in fact in line with the MDGs. It had achieved almost all of its targets set forth, especially in eradicating extreme poverty. According to the Human Development Report 2013, it ranked 30 out of 187 countries in the Human Development Index. It would continue to strive towards accelerating development and looked forward to supporting the post-2015 development agenda.

13. The delegation highlighted the efforts of His Majesty's Government in protecting the vulnerable groups in the country. A number of measures had been put in place, such as introducing new legislations, amending existing ones, and setting up Special Committees to further ensure their rights. Among the legislations included the Children & Young Persons Act, which led to the establishment of a juvenile justice system in 2010 to ensure appropriate judicial procedures for young offenders.

14. Support was provided for less privileged children through benefits, proper care, and guidance. Several welfare programmes had been initiated including provision of shelter homes; education allowance; as well as various funds for orphans, such as the Crown Prince Fund for Orphans.

15. Women constituted over half of its workforce. They had actively contributed to the development of the country as well as the maintenance of peace and security. There continued to be an increasing number of women as professionals in various fields, and many of them had attained high level positions in the public and private sectors such as the Ambassador-At-Large; Attorney General; Deputy Minister; members of the Legislative Council; Senior Officials in the respective Ministries; and Entrepreneurs, to name but a few. The Government's commitment to promote gender equality was clearly evident through national policies applicable to all community sectors. As a result, it had reached a remarkable literacy rate of over 95 per cent for girls. In 2013, the World Economic Forum's Global Gender Gap Report put it in 6th place in terms of estimated earned income; 12th place in terms of enrolment in tertiary education; and 17th place for wage equality. The rights of women were further protected through legislations such as the Islamic Family Law Act and the Married Women Act.

16. For the elderly population, their welfare continued to be safeguarded through strong family and cultural values. Apart from having sufficient care from their families, a significant social safety net for the elderly was the monthly pension for all citizens and permanent residents who had reached the age of 60. This pension was non-contributory and non-means tested.

17. For persons with disabilities, the Government continued to protect their rights through efforts which were also supported and complemented by various NGOs concerned with the welfare of specific disability causes. These included, among others, the provision of monthly allowances.

18. Brunei Darussalam, as a Monarchy and Islamic State, continued to uphold the family institution as the dominant aspect of its culture. The concept of the large extended family had long been established and become the social safety net. Since 2012, the first Sunday of May had been declared National Family Day to commemorate the importance of the family unit. Brunei Darussalam had a close-knit society that is distinctly communal and cohesive. Festive occasions such as "Eid", Chinese New Year, and Christmas, were celebrated by all members of the diverse community. Relatives and friends would exchange visits, well-wishes, and gifts, encouraging tolerance among its ethnic and religious groups.

19. Religious tolerance and understanding was indeed very important. In support of the Alliance of Civilisation, Brunei Darussalam became a member of the UNAOC Group of Friends in 2012 and had participated in several inter-faith dialogues.

20. Under the Constitution, Islam was the official religion of Brunei Darussalam, and its values and teachings continued to be the way of life for its people. As such, the activities of the society revolve around its Malay culture and Islamic faith. Non-Muslims may practise their religions in peace and harmony, as written in its Constitution. Syariah law had been in existence in Brunei Darussalam since the 14th century during the reign of the first Monarch. The objective of Syariah law was to create a society where religion, life, intellect, property and lineage were preserved and protected. With a strong sense of responsibility as an Islamic nation, the country had introduced the Syariah Penal Code Order, which would work in parallel with the existing civil law. The Order would be enforced in phases.

21. At the regional level, Brunei Darussalam held the Chairmanship of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) in 2013 with the theme "Our People, Our Future Together", and initiated the implementation of the 2012 ASEAN Human Rights Declaration. This included the publication of the book on the Declaration and its translation into all the ASEAN languages. In addition, the 23rd ASEAN Summit last October adopted an ASEAN declaration on the elimination of violence against women and children and a declaration to strengthen social protection. Furthermore, Brunei Darussalam continued to support the work of the relevant ASEAN bodies related to human rights. The good progress

ASEAN had made over the past year had demonstrated Brunei Darussalam's commitment in working together with its neighbours and partners especially in the field of human rights.

22. The delegation reaffirmed Brunei Darussalam's commitment to its international obligations. It revealed that Brunei Darussalam would be ratifying the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities in the near future. On CEDAW and CRC, it remained to be committed, and submitted in 2012 its combined initial and second periodic reports to the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women; and combined second and third periodic reports to the Committee on the Rights of the Child in 2013. With regard to the CRC, Brunei would be withdrawing its reservations on paragraphs 1 and 2 of Article 20 of the CRC relating to the protection of a child without a family, as well as paragraph (a) of Article 21 pertaining to the law on adoption. It was also working towards ratifying the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the Involvement of Children in Armed Conflict. Furthermore, in support for global efforts towards abolishing child labour, it had ratified the ILO Minimum Age Convention three years ago, as recommended during the first cycle.

23. As a member of the international community, Brunei Darussalam appreciated the values of peaceful co-existence, mutual respect and cooperation and would continue to welcome technical assistance offered by international partners and at the same time, play its part in providing external assistance through various means such as the Commonwealth Fund for Technical Cooperation; the Initiative for ASEAN Integration; and Enrichment Projects for ASEAN. This ranged from financial support to capacity building and technical cooperation. Brunei Darussalam had offered scholarships to foreign students to pursue higher level education in its various academic institutions. To date, nearly 400 scholarships had been awarded to students from over 63 countries. It had also actively contributed to the initiatives of several UN bodies such as WHO, UNICEF, UN Women, and UNRWA. Brunei stood ready to continue to lend its support in the best way it could.

24. The delegation further highlighted that being a small state of 400,000 people; Brunei Darussalam had very limited human resources and would appreciate assistance from international organisations on capacity building.

B. Interactive dialogue and responses by the State under review

25. During the interactive dialogue, 78 delegations made statements. Recommendations made during the dialogue are to be found in section II of the present report.

26. The Syrian Arab Republic commended the importance attached in national programmes to preservation of the family as a core unit of society as well as action in support of the advancement of women, as evidenced by their election to the Legislative Council.

27. Thailand commended Brunei Darussalam's progress towards ratification of the CRPD and the provision of equal education opportunities. It acknowledged women's representation in the Legislative Council and the Government's promotion of women's rights through the ASEAN Committee on Women and gender equality programmes.

28. Timor-Leste took note of the positive steps undertaken by Brunei Darussalam to implement the recommendations of the previous universal periodic review. It commended progress made in education, health and women's rights.

29. Tunisia commended Brunei Darussalam for combating discrimination and violence against women and adopting actions plans on women, persons with disabilities and child protection. It encouraged Brunei Darussalam to modify the law on nationality to ensure gender equality and to provide a climate propitious to the activities of human rights defenders, journalists and civil society.

30. Turkey commended Brunei Darussalam's participation in regional and global human rights work and its transparent approach to technical cooperation in its human rights and development endeavours.

31. Ukraine noted with appreciation Brunei Darussalam's efforts to protect cultural rights through the ratification of UNESCO Conventions. Ukraine wished to know how the Syariah Penal Code would be applied to non-Muslims.

32. The United Arab Emirates welcomed the establishment of the Heads of Specialist Trafficking Unit and the Human Trafficking Investigation Unit. It commended increased capacity-building, inter-agency coordination, and appeals for technical assistance in the fight against trafficking.

33. The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland welcomed Brunei Darussalam's progress on social and economic rights and its Millennium Development Goal achievements. It urged the Government to suspend the state of emergency and to ensure that the Syariah Penal Code did not violate rights to freedom of religion.

34. The United States of America acknowledged Brunei Darussalam's commitment to the rights of children and gender equality. It was concerned that the 2013 Penal Code would undermine Brunei Darussalam's international human rights commitments, that trades unions could be refused registration and that migrant workers remained vulnerable to forced labour.

35. Uruguay welcomed Brunei Darussalam's Millennium Development Goal achievements, particularly in education, health and the low levels of infant mortality. It noted the introduction of legislation designed to prevent crime and promote human rights.

36. Uzbekistan commended measures taken by Brunei Darussalam to implement the recommendations of the first cycle of the universal periodic review and the adoption of the National Development Plan to strengthen the family, women's and children's rights and juvenile justice.

37. Venezuela (Bolivarian Republic of) noted the progress made by Brunei Darussalam in implementing universal periodic review recommendations; its ratification of ILO Convention no.138 on the abolition of child labour, introduction of a national development plan; Millennium Development Goal achievements; and improvements in social protection and equality.

38. Viet Nam appreciated the adoption of the Brunei Vision 2035 which provided a foundation for the protection and promotion of human rights. Brunei Darussalam had contributed to regional and international human rights cooperation and had implemented universal periodic review recommendations on women's and children's rights, education and health care.

39. Yemen commended the steady progress by Brunei Darussalam towards achievement of the MDGs through the implementation of social safety net programmes, provision of equal educational opportunities, and safeguarding of the environment and natural resources.

40. Afghanistan believed that children should be involved in development and noted with satisfaction Brunei Darussalam's public awareness, probation campaigns and community services for child offenders. It commended the Government's withdrawal of its reservation to CRC.

41. Albania welcomed Brunei Darussalam's domestic legislation on the rights of women and children, family, employment and education and commended the implementation of the plan of action on women and family, which covered children's rights.
42. Algeria welcomed the importance Brunei Darussalam accorded to social and family issues and commended the progress it had made in economic, social and cultural rights. It noted the legislative reforms introduced to strengthen human rights for children, married women and the 2009 decree on employment.
43. Argentina commended Brunei Darussalam for its 10th National Development Plan (2012–2017).
44. Armenia noted positive changes in Brunei Darussalam's protection of human rights, promotion of education, strengthening services through building schools and infrastructure and protecting vulnerable women through employment and capacity building. Brunei Darussalam had not ratified a number of human rights instruments.
45. Australia commended Brunei Darussalam for its commitment to health care and education. It was concerned about the impact of the Syariah Penal Code on religious freedom, the status of women, treatment of LGBT persons and resumption of the death penalty.
46. Azerbaijan welcomed Brunei Darussalam's follow-up of recommendations from the previous review and its progress in health and education. It appreciated the institutional reform that addressed poverty, crime, family, women and persons with disabilities and the progress in anti-trafficking law enforcement.
47. Bahrain welcomed the adoption of the National Development Plan (2012–2017). It commended the provision of free medical and health care to all citizens, including vaccination programmes and antenatal screenings for children and women.
48. Bangladesh noted Brunei Darussalam's progress in education, health care, housing and human development and its positive impact on human rights. Brunei Darussalam was not party to some core human rights treaties. It had an impressive record in promoting the institution of the family.
49. Belarus commended the withdrawal of Brunei Darussalam's reservations to the CRC and amendments to the Penal Code to curb commercial sexual exploitation of children and to enable prosecutors to prosecute a wider range of sexual offences.
50. Spain noted Brunei Darussalam's introduction of legislation to combat gender-based violence but was concerned by the criminalization of same-sex sexual relations. Gaps existed in legislation combating prostitution of minors. The Islamic Penal Code was incompatible with international human rights legislation.
51. Bhutan congratulated Brunei Darussalam for its implementation of recommendations from the previous universal periodic review cycle and the efforts made to promote human rights and to include women in decision-making.
52. Brazil welcomed Brunei Darussalam's awareness campaigns against child abuse and establishment of an action team on child protection. However its progress in meeting the Millennium Development Goals had not been matched by improvements in civil and political rights.
53. Burkina Faso noted progress since the first UPR cycle. It encouraged Brunei Darussalam to continue implementing the 10th National Development Plan 2012–2017, collaborating with human rights NGOs, formulating laws and implementing programmes.

54. Cambodia commended Brunei Darussalam's commitment to strengthening democracy and protecting human rights and fundamental freedoms, especially the rights of children, and the right to education, healthcare and economic opportunities.
55. Canada asked how Brunei Darussalam would meet international human rights obligations which were in conflict with the Syariah Penal Code, particularly on women's rights. It welcomed steps to prevent human trafficking and child exploitation and improve law enforcement.
56. Chad noted efforts to protect social, economic and cultural rights. It commended adoption of the 10th National Development Plan 2012–2017. It noted progress towards attaining the MDGs and development of legislation on children's rights.
57. China acknowledged the 10th National Development Plan 2012-2017, which focused on improving education, healthcare and women's and children's rights. It recognized progress in combating human trafficking and promoting multicultural harmony.
58. Costa Rica commended cooperation with human rights mechanisms, ratification of international instruments, and improved access to and quality of education and healthcare. It expressed concern regarding the use of corporal punishment against children, which should stop.
59. Cuba acknowledged steps to protect citizens' economic, social and cultural rights, and eliminate poverty and illiteracy. It welcomed free education and health services, and efforts to protect the rights of persons with disabilities.
60. The Czech Republic noted deficiencies in the laws and practices pertaining to the freedom of expression and the freedom of the press.
61. Djibouti commended Brunei Darussalam on the quality of its National Report, which reflected its commitment to human rights.
62. Egypt invited Brunei Darussalam to share its views on best practices and major challenges relating to the implementation of integrated pro-family policies and measures to protect and support the family as the fundamental unit of society.
63. France expressed serious concern regarding the adoption of the Syariah Penal Code Order and the consequences that may have on the respect of human rights and fundamental freedoms.
64. Germany acknowledged the success of Brunei Darussalam in advancing the social and economic development of the country.
65. Ghana welcomed Brunei Darussalam's commitment to the UPR process. It applauded the country's concern for the rights of older persons.
66. India commended implementation of the 10th National Development Plan 2012-2017, attainment of the MDGs, and progress towards universal health and education. It welcomed efforts to protect rights of vulnerable groups. It encouraged Brunei Darussalam to review changes to criminal law which impacted freedom of religious minorities.
67. Indonesia commended the Brunei Vision 2035, which demonstrated a commitment to development of its citizens; and to human rights, both regionally and internationally. It recognized efforts to promote and protect rights of persons with disabilities.
68. Iraq noted the Government's achievements in the areas of education, health care, and enhancement of the well-being of children and older persons.
69. Ireland expressed concern at amendments to the Penal Code which prescribed the death penalty for a wide range of offences. While welcoming the achievement of high office by women, it stressed the need for improvements in the protection of women's rights.

70. Iran (Islamic Republic of) highlighted the efforts by Brunei Darussalam to improve the situation of women and children through the establishment of the Special Committee and the Plan of Action on Family Institution and Women.
71. Italy noted strengthened protection of children from sexual exploitation. It expressed concern regarding the Syariah Penal Code Order, and restrictions on freedom of expression. Brunei Darussalam had not yet acceded to several international instruments.
72. Japan thanked Brunei Darussalam for explaining its position on Syariah Law. It commended measures towards acceding to unratified treaties, appointment of women to government posts, submission of CEDAW reports and improved social security during maternity.
73. Jordan highly appreciated the enactment of the Children and Young Persons Act, the adoption of the Workplace Safety and Health Order, and the establishment of the Special Committee on Family Institution and Women.
74. Kazakhstan acknowledged measures to improve human rights, including provision of housing, health care and education. It called for education for all, especially vulnerable social groups. It noted efforts to secure freedom of religion.
75. Kuwait commended the methodical approach adopted by Brunei Darussalam in preparing its report and its commitment to the strengthening of human rights.
76. The Lao People's Democratic Republic noted accession to international conventions and development of national instruments. It welcomed progress towards achieving the MDGs and encouraged safeguarding the rights of children, women, elderly and persons with disabilities and improving access to healthcare and education.
77. Morocco welcomed the adoption of the Children and Young Persons Act, the amendment of the Penal Code to further protect the young and vulnerable from sexual exploitation, and the adoption of legal provisions to protect migrant workers.
78. Malaysia appreciated progress made since the first UPR review. It congratulated the country on meeting the MDGs and on progress regarding the rights of women, children and persons with disabilities through the implementation of legislation.
79. Maldives commended Brunei Darussalam's engagement in the UPR process, its commitment to improving its citizens' living conditions and progress towards the MDGs. It encouraged the international community to assist the country in overcoming challenges.
80. Mauritania noted the emphasis placed on promoting human rights by ensuring basic standards of health care, education, food, housing and welfare. It commended the holding of an Awareness Forum on CEDAW and the signing of the CRPD.
81. Mexico noted that the ratification of conventions on statelessness would support efforts to regularize the situation of stateless persons. It called on the country to extend its invitation to visit Brunei Darussalam to all UN specialized agencies.
82. Montenegro asked what accounted for the lack of cooperation with UN treaty bodies, and whether there were plans to ratify core international instruments and improve cooperation. It requested information on the UNESCO recommendation regarding freedom of expression.
83. Libya noted the establishment of the Special Committee on Family Institution and Women, and the Special Committee on Persons with Disabilities and the Elderly. It commended action to improve education and health care and to promote awareness of human rights.

84. Myanmar thanked Brunei Darussalam for its presentation. It welcomed its active participation in the UPR process and in other regional mechanisms for the promotion and protection of human rights.
85. The Netherlands commended the country for ensuring access to education and health care. It was concerned by provisions criminalizing sexual relations between consenting adults and the proposed introduction of the death penalty in the Penal Code.
86. Nicaragua commended legislative reforms to protect human rights, progress regarding protection of children and women, and efforts to create greater opportunities for its citizens through the implementation of the National Development Plan.
87. Oman commended Brunei Darussalam's MDG achievements, particularly on behalf of women, children and persons with disabilities. It noted that a Human Resource Development Fund had been established to provide young people with training opportunities.
88. Pakistan commended the consultative process adopted to prepare the report, the establishment of the inter-agency consultative mechanism, and the inclusion of women in the Legislative Council. It appreciated the country's commitment to human rights.
89. The Philippines commended Brunei Darussalam on promoting education for all, strengthening legislation on human trafficking, withdrawing reservations to the CRC, making progress towards ratification of the OP-CRC, and guaranteeing migrant rights under labour law.
90. Portugal welcomed efforts to enhance human rights, particularly through the inter-agency consultative mechanism. It asked, since under the Brunei Nationality Act mothers could not confer their nationality on their children, what measures were envisaged to prevent children's statelessness.
91. Oman commended Brunei Darussalam's MDG achievements, particularly on behalf of women, children and persons with disabilities. It noted that a Human Resource Development Fund had been established to provide young people with training opportunities.
92. The Republic of appreciated measures to combat human trafficking and steps to naturalize stateless persons. Ratification of key international instruments would improve the human rights situation and civil society organizations should be promoted.
93. Romania welcomed progress since the previous UPR cycle. It commended progress in ensuring the right to education, the right to health, and social security.
94. The Russian Federation highlighted the importance of gender equality and the promotion of women's rights for national development in line with the Brunei Vision 2035. It noted the establishment of the Brunei Darussalam AIDS Council.
95. Saudi Arabia commended the establishment of Special Committees on poverty, crime prevention, women, older people and persons with disabilities, and noted that women had joined the Legislative Council. It welcomed the adoption of the Syariah Penal Code Order and the Children and Young Persons Act.
96. Sierra Leone welcomed steps towards the MDGs. It asked whether non-Muslims would be accountable under the new Syariah and Penal Code provisions. It asked whether the country had met its GNI target for overseas development assistance.
97. Singapore noted progress in promoting access to health care and to education for all through the implementation of the Strategic Plan 2012-2017. It lauded the focus on social harmony in the Vision Brunei 2035 initiative.

98. Slovenia commended progress towards the MDGs. It welcomed the withdrawal of reservations to the CRC but was concerned by the non-ratification of several core international instruments and by restrictions on freedom of expression.

99. Belgium expressed concerns regarding child protection and freedom of expression. It was deeply concerned by the enactment of the Penal Code providing for capital and corporal punishment for a significant number of offences.

100. Sri Lanka noted the prioritization of and budgetary allocation to education. It welcomed action regarding children's and young people's rights, including through the Children and Young Persons Act and the Human Resource Development Fund.

101. The State of Palestine welcomed efforts to implement the previous recommendations and develop human capital through education. It commended efforts to improve health care but remained concerned about the shortage of qualified health practitioners.

102. The Sudan commended measures taken to promote the rights of women, children, persons with disabilities and older persons. In particular, it praised the establishment of the Special Committee on Family Institution and Women.

103. Sweden noted restrictions on fundamental freedoms and exploitation of foreign workers. It noted that the revised Penal Code stipulated the death penalty for a broad range of offences, including adultery and blasphemy, thus contravening international law.

104. The delegation of Brunei Darussalam expressed its appreciation to the Secretariat and the Bureau for their efforts in ensuring the success of the UPR session, and also thanked all the distinguished delegates for their statements. The delegation took note of their comments and recommendations.

105. It reiterated the focus of His Majesty's Government on the welfare of its people which addressed some of the core basic issues of human rights in terms of the rights to education, to health, to food, and to shelter. It regarded those as the four basic pillars of human rights.

106. It re-emphasized on free education to all Bruneians, from primary to tertiary levels. The Government also offered scholarships for eligible students to continue their studies abroad. With a population of 400,000, about two to three thousand students were pursuing their tertiary education in the United Kingdom. For those who could not meet the requirement, technical education was also available.

107. On health provision, free services were provided for everyone, and for those who were working in the country, a very minimum charge was involved. Apart from that, patients were also sent overseas to Singapore, Malaysia, United Kingdom, Australia, and the United States for specialised health care treatment.

108. It then referred to its opening statement which elaborated on the comprehensive provision of shelter to the people. It also highlighted the extended family system, as a kind of social safety net for the people. Moreover, a non-contributory pension was provided by the Government as an extra safety net. Furthermore, other aspects, be they social, cultural, and spiritual were also catered for.

109. With regard to multilateral cooperation on human rights, the delegation stated that it worked very closely with its regional partners and international organisations. Brunei Darussalam, with 400,000 people, had very limited human resources. It needed capacity building and would appreciate any assistance offered by international organisations.

110. On Portugal's question about the Nationality Act, the delegation responded by quoting its legislation: The Brunei Nationality Act (Cap 15) allows for either a Bruneian father or a Bruneian mother of a child to obtain nationality of the children in accordance with Section 4 and 6 respectively. Section 4 of the Brunei Nationality Act (Cap 15) spells out categories of concern that can acquire nationality by operation of law. Section 6 provides for the acquisition of nationality of a minor by way of registration i.e. application of the parent or guardian who is a Brunei national. As such, pursuant to Section 6 of the Act, children of women citizens married to foreign nationals may be accorded Brunei citizenship upon application.

111. On Mexico's request to invite UN agencies to visit Brunei Darussalam, the delegation responded that apart from the agencies, it welcomed all present to visit the country and appreciate the green and peaceful environment, as well as to meet the friendly people of Brunei Darussalam.

112. It expressed Brunei Darussalam's pleasure to have participated in the second cycle of the review, and looked forward to working with members of the Troika: Morocco, Romania, Saudi Arabia; and the Secretariat in the drafting of the report. It would continue to work together with fellow member countries, international organisations, and the NGOs.

II. Conclusions and/or recommendations

113. The following recommendations will be examined by Brunei which will provide responses in due time, but no later than the 27th session of the Human Rights Council in September 2014:

- 113.1. Ratify the other international instruments on human rights that the country is not yet a party (Argentina);
- 113.2. Further fulfil the internationally taken obligations as well as joining new human rights international instruments (Kazakhstan);
- 113.3. Ratify or accede to all the core United Nations human rights instruments listed in the relevant compilation of the OHCHR of 12 February 2014, relating to political rights, civil rights, economic and social rights, elimination of racial discrimination, torture, rights of women, and Genocide (Ghana);
- 113.4. Accede to all core international human rights instruments, in particular to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (Germany);
- 113.5. Ratify the ICCPR and ICESCR (Algeria);
- 113.6. Sign and ratify the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and its Optional Protocol (Spain);
- 113.7. Continue to consider the potential for its accession to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, which are the most fundamental human rights conventions (Japan);
- 113.8. Take steps in order to sign and ratify the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (Romania);
- 113.9. Consider accessing to ICESCR and ICRMW (Egypt);

Conclusions and recommendations will not be edited

- 113.10. Ratify the ICCPR, ICESCR, CERD, CAT and the Rome Statute (Tunisia);
- 113.11. Accede to the ICCPR, the ICESCR, the CAT, and the Rome Statute of the ICC (Australia);
- 113.12. Ratify or accede to CAT, OP-CAT, ICCPR, and lift its broad reservations to CEDAW and CRC (Czech Republic);
- 113.13. Ratify the ICCPR, ICESCR and its Second Optional Protocol, and CAT (Djibouti);
- 113.14. Ratify the ICCPR, ICESCR, CERD and CAT and withdraw reservations to CEDAW (France);
- 113.15. Ratify ICERD, ICESCR, ICCPR, and the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Portugal);
- 113.16. Ratify core human rights treaties like the ICCPR, ICESCR, and the CAT and ensure that their provisions are respected in national legislation (Sierra Leone);
- 113.17. Consider ratification of core international human rights instruments to which it is not yet a party, such as ICCPR, CAT and ICESCR (Sweden);
- 113.18. Abolish the death penalty and sign and ratify both Optional Protocols to the ICCPR (Portugal);
- 113.19. Ratify the Second Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, aimed at abolishing the death penalty (Uruguay);
- 113.20. Ratify the core international human rights conventions to which it is not a party and the Rome Statute (Slovenia);
- 113.21. Consider acceding to the ICCPR, the ICESCR and the ICC Rome Statute by the next review (Italy);
- 113.22. Review the reservation against the CRC and CEDAW (Sweden);
- 113.23. Consider lifting reservations to Articles 14, 20 and 21 of the CRC and Articles 9 and 29 of the CEDAW (Burkina Faso);
- 113.24. Review the broad reservations to the CRC and to the CEDAW (Portugal);
- 113.25. Withdraw all remaining reservations to the CRC and CEDAW (Slovenia);
- 113.26. Lift its reservations to Articles 9 of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (Canada);
- 113.27. Withdraw existing reservations to the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (Russian Federation);
- 113.28. Continue and complete the process of ratification of OP-CRC-AC (Burkina Faso);
- 113.29. Ratify the CRC, which it signed in 2008 and submit its outstanding report (Sierra Leone);

- 113.30. Continue its efforts to complete the ratification process for CRPD (India);
- 113.31. Continue enhancing the rights of persons with disabilities as well as accelerate the ratification process for the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) (Republic of Korea);
- 113.32. Consider ratifying the Convention on the Rights of the Persons with Disabilities, as a matter of priority (Indonesia);
- 113.33. Ratify the Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance (Argentina);
- 113.34. Accede to the International Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide (Armenia);
- 113.35. Consider the ratification of the Palermo Protocol on Trafficking in Persons (Philippines);
- 113.36. Consider acceding to the Convention relating to the Status of Refugees of 1951 and its Protocol of 1967 (Uruguay);
- 113.37. Ratify ILO Convention 189 concerning decent work for female and male domestic workers (Uruguay);
- 113.38. Consider ratifying the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of Migrant Workers and Members of their Families and ILO Convention 189 (Philippines);
- 113.39. Review its national legislation in conformity with the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women (Albania);
- 113.40. Strengthen the legislation to ban the use of children under 18 for the purpose of commercial sex, prostitution and pornography (Mexico);
- 113.41. Enact legislation to prohibit explicit corporal punishment of children in all settings, including the home, schools and alternative care facilities (Montenegro);
- 113.42. Use the national programme “Brunei Vision 2035” as a guide for the adoption of the national legislation on gender equality and women’s empowerment (Russian Federation);
- 113.43. Initiate reforms to bring its legislation and practice on freedom of expression and opinion in line with international standards (Tunisia);
- 113.44. Consider revising relevant acts restricting the freedom of expression and media in order to ensure that they conform with international human rights standards (Slovenia);
- 113.45. Amend the Sedition Act and the Local Newspapers Order 1958 to strengthen freedom of expression in line with international human rights obligations (Canada);
- 113.46. Amend relevant regulations to align itself with the international standards on freedom of expression and freedom of the press (Italy);
- 113.47. Implement the reforms needed to bring its legislative framework and practices in line with international norms and standards on freedom of the press and freedom of expression (Belgium);

113.48. Revise the Penal Code Order of 2013 to prohibit torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment and to bring Brunei's domestic legislation in line with its international human rights commitments on the freedoms of religion and of expression (United States of America);

113.49. Repeal the emergency powers and the Sedition Act to bring Brunei's domestic legislation in line with its international human rights commitments on the freedoms of expression, of peaceful assembly and of association (United States of America);

113.50. Review and amend all legislation placing undue and arbitrary restrictions on the right to freedom of expression, in particular the Sedition Act, the Undesirable Publication Act and the Local Newspapers Order, and put an end to censorship of the media and decriminalize defamation (Czech Republic);

113.51. Strengthen the text and enforcement of legislation that protects internationally-recognized labour rights for all workers, particularly those rights relating to forced labour and freedom of association (United States of America)

113.52. Enforce the Trafficking and Smuggling Persons Order to hold accountable labour and sex traffickers (United States of America);

113.53. Take the necessary measures to amend the legislation on nationality in order to establish equality between men and women regarding the transmission of nationality to their children (Argentina);

113.54. Consider reviewing its national legislation and regulations to incorporate greater gender perspective and women's rights in the workplace and mobilize support for women in need (Bhutan);

113.55. Step up efforts towards respecting the principle of interdependence of human rights, as laid down in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action by promoting and protecting economic and social rights in an equal footing with those of a civil and political nature. This may be achieved by ratifying international instruments on civil and political rights, and by strengthening national legislation related to the protection of fundamental rights and freedoms (Brazil);

113.56. Decriminalize sexual activity between consenting adults, and repeal all provisions of the newly enacted Penal Code discriminating against women and sexual minorities and introducing cruel or inhuman forms of punishment (Czech Republic);

113.57. Amend Article 375 of the Penal Code, dealing with the crime of rape, in order to remove the exception for sexual intercourse by a man with his wife (Ireland);

113.58. Postpone the implementation of the Syariah Penal Code Order, 2013, pending a comprehensive review ensuring the Order's compliance with international human rights standards, and put in place a formal moratorium on the use of the death penalty, with a view to its abolition (Ireland);

113.59. Enhance efforts to promote understanding of the Syariah Penal Code through awareness programmes and other relevant activities (Iran (Islamic Republic of));

- 113.60. Ensure that the provisions and the application of the Syariah Penal Code Order remain in strict compliance with the human rights law, which includes the ban of any inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment (Italy);
- 113.61. Withdraw the amendments to the Penal Code introducing the death penalty and maintain the current de facto moratorium (Netherlands);
- 113.62. Continue to promote just and fair implementation of Syariah Penal Code through adequate training and capacity building (Pakistan);
- 113.63. Delay the entry into force of the revised Penal Code and conduct a comprehensive review ensuring its compliance with international human rights standards (Sweden);
- 113.64. Ensure that implementation of the Syariah Penal Code Order, 2013 is compliant with international human rights standards and does not lead to the imposition of the death penalty or torture or other inhuman or degrading punishment (United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland);
- 113.65. Implement the Syariah Penal Code in a manner consistent with international human rights standards (Australia);
- 113.66. Reconsider the use of corporal and capital punishment under the Syariah Penal Code (Australia);
- 113.67. Review the Islamic Penal Code in order to meet minimum human rights standards and clarify its application to foreigners and non-Muslims (Spain);
- 113.68. Reinstigate its suspension of implementation of the Shariah Penal Code. Conduct a comprehensive review of the new Penal Code in relation to obligations under international law (Canada);
- 113.69. Repeal or amend those sections of the Penal Code that prevent LGBT persons having equal rights (Netherlands);
- 113.70. Proceed to the abolition of current legislation criminalizing sexual relations between persons of the same sex (Spain);
- 113.71. Decriminalize sexual activity between same-sex consenting adults and ensure the protection of human rights for sexual minorities in conformity with the State's human rights obligations (Canada)
- 113.72. Decriminalise sexual relations between consenting adults of the same sex (France);
- 113.73. Reform Bruneian laws and policies, such as the Sedition Act, to ensure consistency with international standards (Australia);
- 113.74. Increase the age of criminal responsibility, which is now fixed as 7 years, to conform to international standards (Sierra Leone);
- 113.75. Raise the minimum age of criminal responsibility and prohibit sentences of corporal punishment and life imprisonment for children under the age of 18 (Czech Republic);
- 113.76. Continue its efforts to raise the minimum age of criminal responsibility (Uruguay);
- 113.77. Raise the minimum age of criminal responsibility and explicitly prohibit life imprisonment for persons under the age of 18 (Germany);

- 113.78. Bring into line the definition of minor in all legal domains, especially the penal, and prohibit life sentences and corporal punishment for crimes committed by minors (Mexico);
- 113.79. Adopt reforms allowing women the transmission of citizenship as a measure in favour of gender equality and the reduction of cases of statelessness (Mexico);
- 113.80. Facilitate the integration and naturalization of stateless persons who are permanent residents (Iran (Islamic Republic of));
- 113.81. Enter into force the country's law where it encompasses specific provisions for special categories of patients such as mentally disabled offenders and those lacking capacity to consent for treatment (Bahrain);
- 113.82. Strengthen the legislative framework to reflect the provisions of international law on protection of children (Maldives);
- 113.83. Take necessary steps to improve expertise of Brunei Darussalam's obligations in ensuring effective implementation of human rights instruments of which it is a party (Cambodia);
- 113.84. Continue developing the institutional framework with respect to the promotion and protection of human rights (Jordan);
- 113.85. Establish a National Human Rights Commission in conformity with the Paris Principles (Tunisia);
- 113.86. Establish an independent national human rights institution compliant with the Paris Principles (United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland);
- 113.87. Consider establishing a National Human Rights Institution in conformity with the Paris principles (Egypt);
- 113.88. Consider the establishment of an independent national human rights institution in conformity with the Paris Principles (India);
- 113.89. Set up its national human rights institution in accordance with the Paris Principles (Sierra Leone);
- 113.90. Continue measures to strengthen the capacity of national human rights protection mechanisms (Uzbekistan);
- 113.91. Continue to pursue its social policies upholding the institution of family in line with traditional family values (Bangladesh);
- 113.92. Continue all efforts and measures aiming at promoting and strengthening capacity of national institutions for implementation of Islamic Sharia rules (Saudi Arabia);
- 113.93. Continue its policies on improving the rights of the child (Jordan);
- 113.94. Intensify efforts and strengthen policies and strategies to address the sale and trafficking of persons, especially women and children (Costa Rica);
- 113.95. Continue its efforts in training and capacity-building programmes for government and law enforcement officials in order to strengthen the efficiency in the promotion and protection of human rights within the existing laws and policies (Malaysia);

- 113.96. Take into account the constructive contributions arising from this review in the current national social policies (Nicaragua);
- 113.97. Continue strengthening its successful education policies, as well as the social protection programs being implemented in order to provide the highest quality of life and well-being to its people (Venezuela (Bolivarian Republic of));
- 113.98. Maintain constructive and cooperative dialogue with the international community in the field of human rights (Timor-Leste);
- 113.99. Continue providing the full exercise of women and children rights within the framework of the Plan of Action on Family Institution and Women (Kazakhstan);
- 113.100. Continue its initiatives to improve the living standards of its people, especially in meeting the basic needs of the vulnerable groups (Kuwait);
- 113.101. Continue strengthening and implementing the current Plan of Action for Women and the Family Institution (Nicaragua);
- 113.102. Continue the programmes and national plans that aim to empower youth (Syrian Arab Republic);
- 113.103. Continue efforts to promote and protect the rights of women and children on all levels (Qatar);
- 113.104. Continue its endeavour to promote and protect the human rights of children and women (Iran (Islamic Republic of));
- 113.105. Continue its efforts to promote education and training in human rights (Djibouti);
- 113.106. Intensify efforts to develop human rights education system and to strengthen the culture of human rights (Uzbekistan);
- 113.107. Continue to ensure the fulfilment of the necessities of the vulnerable groups in Brunei Darussalam and, in this regard, also continue to uphold its commitments to the relevant international human rights instruments to which Brunei Darussalam is a party (Pakistan);
- 113.108. Further its endeavours with regard to the smooth and productive activities of the six Special Committees to address the issues of poverty; community's mentality; immoral behaviour; crime; family institution and women; and persons with disabilities and elderly (Azerbaijan);
- 113.109. Underscore discipline and respect by the youth for the aged under Brunei's Care for the Elderly Project bearing in mind that an older person or parent who is abused by a caregiver would still feel humiliated, however much he or she is fed. (Ghana);
- 113.110. Endeavour to sustain its Senior Citizens Activity Centre to enable the youth learn from the experience of the elderly (Ghana);
- 113.111. Continue its efforts in maintaining social harmony (Singapore);
- 113.112. Continue its cooperation with the United Nations and other international organisations to strengthen human rights (Myanmar);
- 113.113. Continue its co-operation with the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights on all issues of mutual interest (Romania);

- 113.114. Continue its engagement with various institutions to promote and protect human rights at the regional and international fora (Kuwait);
- 113.115. Continue and strengthen the active interaction with regional and international organizations of human rights (Morocco);
- 113.116. Continue its constructive role and contribution in the promotion and protection of human rights in the region, particularly through established regional frameworks in ASEAN, such as the ASEAN Intergovernmental Commission on Human Rights (AICHR); the ASEAN Commission on the Promotion and Protection of the Rights of Women and Children (ACWC) (Myanmar);
- 113.117. Collaborate with treaty bodies and special procedures mandate holders (Chad);
- 113.118. Step up its cooperation with the United Nations by addressing a standing invitation to special procedures and present the overdue report on the implementation of the CRC (Portugal);
- 113.119. Consider issuing a standing invitation to the UN special procedures (Ukraine);
- 113.120. Cooperate with the special procedures of the United Nations in addressing a standing invitation and facilitating their visits (France);
- 113.121. Foster an inclusive society in which all, regardless of race, citizenship and religion, are equally protected (Sweden);
- 113.122. Ensure the principle of equality before the law and the respect of the fundamental rights of all citizens without distinction of any kind such as sex, race, religion or belief (France);
- 113.123. Implement awareness projects and activities to combat discriminatory attitudes, and further its efforts to promote human rights education (Albania);
- 113.124. Continue to make efforts to further promote women's rights and eliminate discrimination (Japan);
- 113.125. Respect the fundamental principle of equality between men and women in particular by allowing women from Brunei Darussalam to transmit their nationality to their children and by raising the age of marriage for women (France);
- 113.126. Maintain the moratorium on executions with a view to abolishing the death penalty and provide statistics such as sex and age of persons sentenced to the death penalty or executed (France);
- 113.127. Maintain a moratorium and ultimately move to abolish the death penalty in law (Australia);
- 113.128. Uphold Brunei's long-lasting moratorium on the death penalty (Czech Republic);
- 113.129. Refrain from any steps to extend the application of the death penalty or otherwise alter the legal system in a manner that would violate human rights (Germany);
- 113.130. Abolish the death penalty for all crimes (Montenegro);

- 113.131. If Brunei continues to use the death penalty, meet at least the minimum international standards on death penalty (ECOSOC resolution 1984/50) and the relevant provisions of the Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (Articles 6 and 14) and the Convention on the Rights of the Child (Article 37) (Belgium);
- 113.132. Establish a formal moratorium on the use of the death penalty and work towards its abolition (Sweden);
- 113.133. Address specifically the root causes of gender violence by promoting awareness programs in the education sector and by the economic empowerment of women (Spain);
- 113.134. Continue its efforts in safeguarding the rights of women and children, particularly in combating trafficking in persons (Philippines);
- 113.135. Continue enhancing its efforts for strengthening the family institution and to empower women and ensure their enjoyment of their legitimate rights and ensure women's effective participation in the decision-making (Sudan);
- 113.136. Prohibiting corporal punishment sentences, in all settings, including in the home (Uruguay);
- 113.137. Ban corporal punishment sentences and life sentences, in particular those imposed on children (Costa Rica);
- 113.138. Step up its efforts in the promotion and protection of the rights of children, including continuing its measures in combating violence against children (Afghanistan);
- 113.139. Strengthen and widen the scope of the awareness campaigns against child abuse, as well as the establishment of the Action Team on Child Protection to oversee cases of abuse, including corporal punishment (Brazil);
- 113.140. Strengthen the measures adopted to ensure the effective prohibition of minors' under 18 prostitution, paying particular attention to the prohibition of the use of this type of prostitution or to offer it (Spain);
- 113.141. Implement Article 3(b) of ILO Convention No. 182, which requires States parties to establish the strict prohibition of the use, recruitment or offering of a child for prostitution, production of pornography or pornographic performances (Belgium);
- 113.142. Take further measures to ensure sufficient data on the prevalence of the worst forms of child labour in the country and, particularly with regard to child trafficking (Albania);
- 113.143. Redouble its efforts to ensure effective control in the fight against the sale and trafficking of children, including by raising awareness and by providing agents at the border with the necessary tools to identify victims and vulnerable populations and combat trafficking effectively (Belgium);
- 113.144. Take effective and time-bound measures to ensure that children, with particular attention to children of migrant workers, were protected from trafficking and prostitution (Slovenia);
- 113.145. Extend its participation and share its experience in the field of combating trafficking in persons with the countries of the region, and continue its efforts to cooperate with the international community to eliminate this social scourge (United Arab Emirates);

113.146. Continue its efforts against trafficking in persons (Azerbaijan);

113.147. Continue taking measures on combating trafficking in persons (Kazakhstan);

113.148. Step up efforts in the area of combating human trafficking including training of officials on identifying victims of human trafficking as well as measures for the protection and rehabilitation of victims (Belarus);

113.149. Continue to strengthen efforts to combat human trafficking and to raise awareness of its danger (Qatar);

113.150. Promote freedom of religion and belief, including by increasing access to religious literature, places of worship, and public religious gatherings for non-Muslims and non-Shafi'i Muslims (Canada);

113.151. Ensure full freedom of expression and end media censorship (Sweden);

113.152. Attach greater importance to the promotion of civil and political rights, recognizing the indivisibility and interdependence of human rights, and grant freedom of speech and other civil liberties to its citizens (Germany);

113.153. Continue to promote the empowerment of women, particularly their employment and participation in politics and the decision-making process (Thailand);

113.154. Continue efforts to promote the status of women in society and their effective participation in the decision-making process of the country (Algeria);

113.155. Continue to work on the formation of a national mechanism for women's empowerment (Belarus);

113.156. Take further steps towards ensuring better representation and participation of women in public and political life, including in the Government and Parliament (Egypt);

113.157. Strengthen efforts to promote empowerment of women and gender equality with the objective of increasing their participation in decision-making (Maldives);

113.158. Continue to promote opportunities for women in society so that they can actively participate in the decision-making process (Nicaragua);

113.159. Continue its efforts to achieve sustainable economic development, improving education and training, protection and empowerment of vulnerable groups such as women and the poor people (Yemen);

113.160. Continue efforts to promote economic growth through its national development plans and ensure greater work opportunity for its youths and women (Viet Nam);

113.161. Further protect the women's rights by providing more assistance to poor women and those with disabilities (China);

113.162. Continue its efforts to ensure adequate housing, access to healthcare and education as means to ensure quality standard of living for its peoples (Turkey);

- 113.163. Continue its exemplary efforts to improve the living standards of the people, particularly in ensuring their access to the quality of health care services and education (Lao People's Democratic Republic);
- 113.164. Continue all initiatives and efforts to improve the standard of living of the people of Brunei, especially in the field of health and quality of education (Saudi Arabia);
- 113.165. Further enhance national mechanism and invest more resources in improving the well-being of the people, including through adequate provision of housing (Viet Nam);
- 113.166. Continue its efforts to design and implement its plans aimed at promoting human development programmes in the important sectors in the country (Oman);
- 113.167. Ensure that continuous efforts are undertaken to develop its human capital through education and training and empowering vulnerable groups (Sri Lanka);
- 113.168. Continue to meet the basic needs of vulnerable groups in the country, especially women, children, elderly and persons with disabilities (Lao People's Democratic Republic);
- 113.169. Accelerate putting in place a comprehensive development plan for the health system and its infrastructure (Bahrain);
- 113.170. Continue putting an emphasis on the promotion of human rights, ensuring the right to basic standards of health, education, nutrition and welfare of the entire population (Cuba);
- 113.171. Continue to improve its national healthcare system and ensure access to quality healthcare (Singapore);
- 113.172. Continue to strengthen its comprehensive free health-care system by taking necessary steps to increase the number of qualified local health personnel in the country (Sri Lanka);
- 113.173. Increase its provision of scholarships to students to study medicine, and intensify efforts to optimise facilities and human resource utilisation focusing on efficient health system models (State of Palestine);
- 113.174. Continue ensuring the right to safe drinking water and sanitation for all persons (Egypt);
- 113.175. Continue to increase public awareness of harm of narcotic drugs (Russian Federation);
- 113.176. Continue the programmes and national plans in developing education, especially in early childhood (Syrian Arab Republic);
- 113.177. Continue to promote the right to education for all, particularly for the underprivileged and disadvantaged (Thailand);
- 113.178. Continue to seek international technical cooperation and assistance especially in the areas of health and education (Timor-Leste);
- 113.179. Take further measures aimed at ensuring the right to education for all and promote human rights education and training (Ukraine);

- 113.180. Further include human rights education and awareness-raising programs in school and university curriculum as part of its efforts to promote human rights in the country (Armenia);
- 113.181. Continue its efforts with a view to further promote its position on achieving almost all targets of the MDGs and on its education indicators (Azerbaijan);
- 113.182. Continue to implement the national education strategic plan to raise the coverage of the education and its quality (China);
- 113.183. Continue its efforts in the promotion and protection of children's rights, including through the implementation of the Plan of Action of Family Institution and Women and public education campaigns on the right of the child (Indonesia);
- 113.184. Continue promoting the rights of children, particularly in guaranteeing their access to quality education, so as to ensure that they would be able to enter the workforce with the necessary skills (Malaysia);
- 113.185. Increase the access of children, women and persons with disabilities to education (Morocco);
- 113.186. Continue to take further steps to strengthen its education system, particularly through the initiatives outlined in its Strategic Plan (Singapore);
- 113.187. Continue to actively promote the right to education for all and further its efforts to promote human rights education and training (State of Palestine);
- 113.188. Prioritise the enjoyment of the right to education all over the country (Sudan);
- 113.189. Continue to implement programmes so as to improve the accessibility for persons with disabilities in the learning and working environment (Cambodia).
114. All conclusions and/or recommendations contained in the present report reflect the position of the submitting State(s) and/or the State under review. They should not be construed as endorsed by the Working Group as a whole.

Annex

Composition of the delegation

The delegation of Brunei Darussalam was headed by The Honourable Pehin Dato Lim Jock Seng, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Trade II Sand composed of the following members:

- H.E. Abu Sufian Haji Ali, Ambassador and Permanent Representative, Permanent Mission of Brunei Darussalam to United Nations, World Trade Organization and other International Organizations in Geneva;
- Mr. Yahya Haji Idris, Permanent Secretary, Prime Minister's Office;
- H.E. Datin Paduka Tan Bee Yong, Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade;
- Ms. P A Mansurah Izzul Bolkihah, Assistant Director, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade;
- Mr. Dato Seri Setia Haji Tasim Hj Akim, Director of Islamic Legal Unit, Ministry of Religious Affairs;
- Mrs. Hjh Nor Hashimah Hj Mohd Taib, Assistant Solicitor-General. Attorney General's Chambers;
- Mr. Mohd Shafiee Hj Kassim, Acting Director, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade;
- Mr. Azmi Hj Hafneh, Acting Director, Department of Immigration and National Registration;
- Mr. Hj Mohammad Rosli Hj Ibrahim, Senior Special Duties Officer, Prime Minister's Office;
- Ms. Hjh Noridah Abdul Hamid, Acting Deputy Director, Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports;
- Mr. Rozan Justin Teo Hj Azlan, Assistant Labour Commissioner, Department of Labour;
- Ms. Normassahrol Hafyzah Ahmad Sah, Education Officer, Ministry of Religious Affairs;
- Ms. Mariani Hj Sallehuddin, Legal Counsel, Attorney General's Chambers;
- Ms. Nazirah Hj Zaini, Second Secretary, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade;
- Ms. Nurussa'adah Muharram, Second Secretary, Permanent Mission of Brunei Darussalam to United Nations, World Trade Organization and other International Organizations in Geneva;
- Ms. Hjh Norhartijah Hj Puteh, Syariah Legal Officer, Ministry of Religious Affairs;
- Ms. Siti Zaharah Hj Abdul Razak, Community Development Officer, Ministry of Culture, Youth and Sports;
- Ms. Norismahfadzalina Hj Ismail, Senior Chief Immigration Officer, Department of Immigration and National Registration;

- Mr. Cheong Kit Kheong Victor, Second Secretary, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade.
-