Thirty-third session

Agenda item 6

Universal Periodic Review

Report of the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review*

Hungary

Addendum

Views on conclusions and/or recommendations, voluntary commitments and replies presented by the State under review

* The present document was not edited before being sent to the United Nations translation services.

1. The Government of Hungary would like to thank the States for the constructive contributions and the 221 recommendations put forward during the second UPR of Hungary on 4 May 2016 which have been examined by the Government; the result of this process is presented thematically clustered in this Addendum as follows, together with a short explanation:

I.	II.	III.
98 recommendations supported.	91 recommendations supported as they are already in the process of implementation and part ¹ of 12 recommendations are also supported.	20 recommendations noted.

International obligations

2. Hungary constantly assesses the compatibility of its laws with its international obligations. Hungary is already party to the Rome Statute, the consistency has been ensured by the Criminal Code. The draft bill on the promulgation of the Rome Statute has been introduced to the Parliament.

3. Hungary ratified the Refugee Convention and its Protocol, the Stateless Persons Convention, the Reduction of Statelessness Convention, the Nationality of Married Women Convention and the UNESCO Convention to fight discrimination in Education.

4. Unlike ILO convention 169², the ratification of ILO convention 189³ is now subject of national tripartite discussions.

5. Hungary intends to ratify the Istanbul Convention⁴ after thorough examination. The ratification of the CED⁵ and accepting the competence of its Committee is currently examined. Similarly, before signing the CRC-OPCP⁶ it is necessary to review the relevant national law and the institutional background.

6. Hungary guarantees the fundamental rights of all persons present in its territory and is of the view that the ICRMW⁷ does not bring added value compared to other instruments in this field to which Hungary has acceded. In the same vein by ratifying ICESCR⁸, the European Social Charter and several other relevant instruments (ILO, CoE, EU), Hungary has committed itself to a comprehensive protection system in the field of ESC rights including the possibility to submit complaints on national and regional level. The ratification of the OP-ICESCR⁹ is still being examined. The Government wishes to maintain the reservations it made to different conventions for the time being.

7. Hungary fully cooperates with the Human Rights Council and its mechanisms, it organised all requested visits by HRC mandate holders, responded to all allegation letters and constantly examines the implementation of their recommendations. Hungary submitted on time its periodical reports to the CRPD³⁴, CEDAW³⁵ and CRC³⁶. The Government strives to eradicate its backlog before its next UPR. Development of a national action plan regarding SC resolution 1325³⁷ is under consideration.

Protection of human rights

8. Enjoyment of human rights is ensured by the new Fundamental Law. The main rules of functioning, procedure and financial independence⁴⁸ of the Constitutional Court are set in the Fundamental Law and in a cardinal act⁴⁹.

9. Concerns regarding the independence of the judiciary and rule of law have been remedied after consultations with international organisations, therefore no further legislative actions are necessary. The Government was and is ready for expert debate on these issues, but not for unfounded, biased criticism.

10. The “A” status Commissioner of Fundamental Rights (CFR) is a central element of the Hungarian protection system including monitoring detention places in conformity with the regulations of the OPCAT⁵⁰. Its steadily increasing funding is ensured by the Parliament.

11. The new autonomous Data Protection Authority is supervising the protection of personal data and access to public data. Its status ensures independence as to its organisation, competences, personnel, budget and exercising its tasks. Costs of fulfilment of data requests can only be charged if the fulfilment of the demand involves extensive use of human resources. Restrictions of access to data of public interest are in accordance with international norms.

12. The inter-ministerial Human Rights Working Group (HRWG) monitors human rights in Hungary, advises the Government and observes the implementation of the UPR recommendations. Its Roundtable is composed of 11 thematic sub-working groups with the participation of ministries, the CFR and NGOs. Proposals are submitted to the ministers of state for follow-up action. The Government deems the sectoral human rights strategies (which have been discussed, developed and are continuously assessed with the engagement of civil society) sufficient.

Civil society

13. Government proposals for bills and decrees are to be published on its webpage. General consultations are mandatory, direct consultations are optional. In case of a rejected opinion, reasoning for the rejection has to be uploaded. The minister may involve NGOs, churches, minority organisations, professional and scientific organisations, lobby-groups etc. in the drafting process.

14. Human rights of HRDs⁶² are respected, including ones promoting the rights of Roma communities, the Government constantly consults with Roma HRDs. The Government Control Office audits the use of public funds, NGOs involved in any investigation have the right to appeal to Court. In line with international regulations there are only certain transparency and accounting restrictions for NGOs when accessing national or foreign funding.

Family

15. In order to enhance the social security of families and ease the financial burden of bringing up children, the family support system provides a broad scope of benefits. Free or discounted meals are provided for children living in low-income families in educational institutions⁷³. Family policies are developed in accordance with gender equality and non-discrimination requirements and are under permanent assessment based upon the necessities of the concerned social groups.

16. According to the Fundamental Law the foundation of family ties are the marriage, and the relationship between parents and children. It also declares that Hungary shall protect the institution of marriage as the union of a man and a woman established by voluntary decision, and the family as the basis of the nation's survival. It is imperative that legislation is in accordance with the Fundamental Law.

Vulnerable groups

17. No child shall be subject to torture, corporal punishment or any other cruel, inhuman or degrading punishment or treatment. The Hungarian child protection service involves the child rights representatives and the independent child protection guardians. The “A” status Fundamental Rights Commissioner also pays special attention to the protection of the child rights, the interests of future generations and the rights of the most vulnerable social groups including minorities. Temporary shelter and care is available for endangered children and their parent(s). The National Institute of Child Health developed new methodology and a counselling website. Anti-abuse programmes and trainings are organised for experts and parents.

18. The planned new Criminal Procedure Code will include further guarantees to take into account the best interest of the children in the juvenile justice system. The new rules of the Criminal Code regarding detention and reintegration of children, in particular those between the ages of 12-14, are more favourable compared to older offenders.

I.	II.	III.
153 ⁸³ , 154 ⁸⁴ .	–	125 ⁸⁵ , 141 ⁸⁶ .

19. The current legislation ensures the participation of women in political life and in decision-making, therefore no further legislative steps are necessary. However, the current comprehensive strategy aims to combat remaining gender stereotypes through new programs, media campaigns and projects for NGOs. Marriage under the age of 16 is not allowed. Between 16-18 years it is possible only with the permission of the Guardianship Office which takes into account the best interest of the child.

20. Hungary continues preventing violence against women through national strategies and policy actions. Expansion of the system of shelters, new forms of victim support services, intensified awareness-raising and prevention programmes are envisaged. With the ongoing ratification of the Istanbul Convention, current legislation will be updated. A wider range of violence against women, including partnership violence, sexual duress etc. has been included in the new Criminal Code.

21. A new national program is being developed with the aim of strengthening the reproductive health services in particular for vulnerable groups. In case of patients with HIV/AIDS, treatment and prevention of HIV transmission is in focus.

I.	II.	III.
–	172 ¹¹⁰ .	–

22. Hungary will also maintain its commitment to combat human trafficking. Efforts are enhanced due to the migration crisis including cross-border cooperation and victim-protection.

23. The Fundamental Law obliges the State to introduce specific measures to protect persons with disabilities. A new working group reviews i.e. the regulation and the case law of „supported decision making” and the suffrage issues. Deprivation of the right to vote due to mental status is now possible only by court decision. Mentally incapacitated or partially capacitated persons have the right to receive the appropriate information with respect to their age, mental capacities and psychological status.

24. The Fundamental Law and the Equal Treatment Act prohibits discrimination on any ground thus on gender identity and sexual orientation. Coherent jurisprudence of courts is steadily developing. A new independent strategy is not envisaged for the time being. Nevertheless the LGBTI Roundtable of the above mentioned HRWG regularly examines the situation.

Minorities including Roma, discrimination, hate acts

25. Fundamental rights are guaranteed at constitutional level without discrimination on any ground. The detailed anti-discrimination provisions can be found in the Equal Treatment Act which is in line with relevant international norms. These rules apply also to participation in political life and in decision-making. An autonomous Equal Treatment Authority monitors and acts upon discrimination cases and exercises its tasks and competences free from any outside influence; its budget is guaranteed by the Parliament.

I.	II.	III.
32 ¹³¹ , 39 ¹³² , 52 ¹³³ , 55 ¹³⁴ .	49 ¹³⁵ .	–

26. Hungary is taking comprehensive measures against racial discrimination and segregation. The National Social Inclusion Strategy and its multisector Action Plan includes inclusion policies on child well-being, education, employment, health, housing as well as integration, awareness-raising. These measures¹³⁶ put special emphasis on Roma women and children. The 2nd Action Plan (2015–2017) takes steps for broader social inclusion in particular in the labour, cultural, political and educational sectors. Health care is provided equally for each and every entitled person without any discrimination including ethnicity.

27. Hungary guarantees protection of national minorities at constitutional level. Details are regulated in a cardinal act. According to the Venice Commission¹⁵³ this act “confirms Hungary’s internationally recognised commitment to minority protection”. The new electoral law introduced preferential mandates in the Parliament: nationalities’ candidates need ¼ of the number of votes required for a majority mandate. Should a nationality fail to achieve this number, they may delegate a nationality advocate (“spokesperson”). This system ensures a fair balance between the rights of national minorities, the individual citizens’ right to self-determination and the transparency of elections.

I.	II.	III.
93 ¹⁵⁴ .	–	–

28. Hungary offers free mother tongue education for minorities as well as guarantees teaching minority culture. To improve access to quality education the Government introduced several measures and programs in partnership with minority representatives to support disadvantaged students, including Roma.

29. The Government takes stern action¹⁶⁶ against hate acts. The new Criminal Code contains enhanced provisions¹⁶⁷ against anti-Semitism, hate speech and action against violations of freedom of conscience and religion. In addition, the new Civil Code also provides the possibility for individuals and communities to launch civil law suits. Training is provided for judges and prosecutors to enhance measures against hate crimes. A specialized police unit monitors the media and evaluates investigation data to signal possible hate crime acts as well as advises other police units. The Working Group against Hate Crimes serves as a forum for cooperation between the Government and relevant NGOs. The National Victim Service provides assistance for victims of crimes including hate crimes.

30. Since 1989, the provisions of the Criminal Code sanctioning hate crimes extend to actions committed against the dignity of the Hungarian nation. The Fundamental Law and the case-law of the Constitutional Court ensures the balance¹⁸⁸ between freedom of speech and right to dignity of national, ethnic, racial or religious groups.

Asylum seekers and migrants

31. Hungary grants asylum and established procedures in line with international and regional standards, including the 1951 Refugee Convention. Hungary firmly believes that protection should be provided for those who are in real danger, with special attention to women and children. The Government is striving to improve the living conditions of refugees and asylum seekers. Care and support provided, are in line with EU and international regulations¹⁹⁰.

32. Detention of asylum seekers is exceptional²²⁶ and serves as a last resort to ensure the presence of the applicant. Alternative measures²²⁷ are used as a priority before detention. Families with children may only be detained exceptionally and for a maximum of 30 days, if it is in the best interest of the child. Care of unaccompanied minors is ensured in the frame of child protection service. Legal representation is provided by child protection guardians. The system complies with international standards²²⁸. The legitimacy of the detention is ensured by continuous judicial control. Asylum applicants are separated from detainees.

–	191 ²²⁹ , 201 ²³⁰ , 212 ²³¹ , 217 ²³² , 219 ²³³ .	187 ²³⁴ , 207 ²³⁵ .

33. Any excessive use of force can be challenged by the person concerned at the chief of the police unit, the head of the detention center, the prosecutor or the court. A complaint can also be launched at the Independent Police Complaints Body. As the National Preventive Mechanism according to OPCAT, the Ombudsman also regularly examines detention centers. Similar rules apply for military personnel.

I.	II.	III.
–	202 ²³⁶ .	79 ²³⁷ , 128 ²³⁸ .

34. Hungary participates in voluntary resettlement schemes. Numerous refugees were resettled from Ukraine, Lebanon, Turkey and Jordan. “Illegal entry” is not criminalised in Hungary only if it is performed by breaking through the technical barrier protecting the selected section of the State border. Otherwise, illegal border crossing is not a criminal offence, but an infraction, which is only punishable by fine or community service. Rules on transit zones and safe countries are in line with the relevant provisions of the Common European Asylum System.

Other

35. The Government was and is ready for dialogue in order to address concerns raised regarding the new media regulation which was extensively discussed with relevant international organisations. As a result, current rules contain exclusively such limitations which are in line with international law, thus CoE acknowledged that the Hungarian media law had been significantly improved.

36. Hungary continuously makes efforts to eliminate overcrowding in prisons. 757 new prison places were built between 2013 and 2015. In addition, 4374 new places will be established resulting in almost full elimination of overcrowding by 2020. In parallel, alternative measures and reduction of pre-trial detention are increasingly used, which also reduces prison population.

I.	II.	III.
–	127 ²⁴⁸ , 129 ²⁴⁹ .	–

37. Supporting young employees and entrepreneurs, promoting training programmes are priorities. Through the Youth Guarantee Initiative 24 higher education institutions are providing training programs and have cooperation agreement with more than 500 companies allowing students to acquire experience. Another initiative fosters the return of employees working in public administration to the primary labour market.

I.	II.	III.
–	169 ²⁵⁰ .	–

38. Sustainable and peaceful solution of conflicts necessitates genuine political will of the parties involved instead of military or economic pressure. Companies operating in the territory of parties should observe the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights which Hungary is currently incorporating into its national regulations.

I.	II.	III.
–	–	24 ²⁵¹ .

39. Hungary is steadily increasing its ODA contribution despite austerity measures adopted each year since 2006. The current level is 0.11%.

- ⁴⁷ Implement recommendations made by UN Special Rapporteur on Freedom of Peaceful Assembly and Association regarding governmental oversight and regulations of NGOs.
- ⁴⁸ i.e. The budget of the Constitutional Court shall not be less than the budget allocated in the central budget of the previous year.
- ⁴⁹ Adoption of a cardinal act requires the votes of 2/3 majority of the Parliament. Probably the most important change concerning the rules on the competences of the Constitutional Court is the abolition of actio popularis and parallel, the alteration of the institution of constitutional complaint. Before the adoption of the Fundamental Law the core competence of the Court was the ex post review of the conformity of pieces of legislation with the Constitution, as anyone – even without a legal interest – was entitled to submit a petition asking the constitutional review of a legal norm. Abolition of this general right was even demanded by the Court itself because of the extent of its caseload. According to the new rules, such a proceeding can only be initiated by the Government, 1/4th of all Members of Parliament, the President of the Supreme Court, the Prosecutor General or the Commissioner for Fundamental Rights. At the same time, constitutional judges also urged the introduction of the „real“, that is, the German type of constitutional complaint. It may be lodged at the Court mainly when a right guaranteed by the Fundamental Law of the petitioner is violated by a judicial decision. The Venice Commission examined the modification of the regulation on the Court and on the whole it formed a positive opinion.
- ⁵⁰ Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment.
- ⁵¹ Continue further improvement of the protection and promotion of human rights in the country.
- ⁵² Continue to promote and protect the fundamental freedoms and human rights of all its citizens.
- ⁵³ Consider developing Human Rights Indicators as suggested by the OHCHR as an instrument that allows for a more precise and coherent evaluation of national human rights policies.
- ⁵⁴ Consider increasing the funding of the National Preventive Mechanism, in order to support its work and the detention monitoring activities.
- ⁵⁵ Take concrete measures to ensure the independence of the Constitutional Court and the protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms, and that political pressure is not being applied to judicial decision-making.
- ⁵⁶ Ensure that the implementation of objectives set up in the 2014 National Strategy on Public Education are in line with the objectives and goals of the SDGs.
- ⁵⁷ Ensure the inclusion of human rights and especially children's rights in the public education system, raising awareness about human rights in general.
- ⁵⁸ Develop and implement a National Action Plan on Human Rights to further ensure systematic and comprehensive approach for the promotion and protection of human rights, with the full engagement of the civil society.
- ⁵⁹ Continue to pursue implementation of the UN Basic Principles on the Independence of the Judiciary and repeal all provisions of national law that restrict the Constitutional Court's jurisdiction.
- ⁶⁰ Implement reforms on judicial independence and rule of law recommended by the International Bar Association Human Rights Institute in 2015.
- ⁶¹ Revise transparency laws to reinstate a freedom of information parliamentary ombudsman, and ex ante reclaiming of labour costs for processing information requests, and limit public institutions' authority to refuse access to public data.
- ⁶² Human rights defenders.
- ⁶³ Ensure consultation processes which allow a public debate and interaction with the independent civil society, with sufficient time during the drafting of new laws and public policies.
- ⁶⁴ Engage in consultation with pro-transparency organisations and other relevant stakeholders prior to developing or implementing new legislation on Freedom of Information.
- ⁶⁵ Refrain from targeting or restricting the activities of civil society organisations based on their political affiliation or their receipt of foreign funding.
- ⁶⁶ Adopt measures to comply with provisions of the new Constitution including on combating discrimination and ensuring equal participation in political and public affairs by all citizens.
- ⁶⁷ Improve both formal and informal dialogue and public consultation between the Government and civil society, including on proposed legislation with an impact on human rights.
- ⁶⁸ Review and abolish all legal provisions that restrict the rights of human rights defenders promoting

- the rights of the Roma community.
- 69 Ensure the prompt and independent investigation of all alleged violations against human rights defenders.
- 70 Remove all administrative and legislative provisions that restrict the rights of the Human Rights Defenders and ensure that civil society organizations can operate freely and without discrimination or undue restriction.
- 71 Take steps to ensure that civil society organizations freely can access and utilize funding, including from foreign sources.
- 72 Take measures allowing the exercise of the lawful activities of human rights defenders, in a favourable legal and administrative environment.
- 73 In nurseries, kindergartens, primary and secondary schools.
- 74 Continue to provide protection to the family as the natural and fundamental unit of the society.
- 75 Reconsider policies on family, gender equality and non-discrimination.
- 76 Provide greater support for poor families and children and reduce social inequality.
- 77 Amend the legislation on the protection of families in order to widen the definition of family.
- 78 Continue to implement measures to protect the rights of the child.
- 79 Enhance measures to protect the rights of children, women and other vulnerable groups.
- 80 Consider establishing independent mechanism for monitoring children's rights and providing necessary financial resources for its functioning.
- 81 Step up efforts to establish a mechanism to monitor measures to help address and ameliorate the conditions of women and children.
- 82 Abandon the practice of corporal punishment of children and encourage non-violent forms of discipline.
- 83 Take necessary measures for strengthening its specialized juvenile justice system in compliance with the Convention on the Rights of the Child.
- 84 Continue efforts for the reintegration of former child offenders in the society.
