

COUNTRY STATEMENT SAMOA

Mr President,

Distinguished representatives of the Members States and the Observer States of the Human Rights Council,

Introduction

First of all, Samoa would like to thank the presiding officer who has kindly agreed to present this statement on behalf of Samoa in the absence of a delegation from capital due to circumstances beyond its control.

The Independent State of Samoa takes note of the recommendations made in the second review during the 18th Session of the Working Group in the Universal Periodic Review (UPR), held on the 3rd of May 2016.

The UPR Working Group adopted Samoa's national report A/HRC/WG.6/25/L3 on the 9th of May 2016 during its 18th Session.

Following the 18th session of the Human Rights Council, Samoa requested further consideration of 38 recommendations out of the 129 provided by the Working Group.

Overarching Conditions for Implementation of the second UPR

Since the second UPR in May, a number of developments have been institutionalised within the national framework for sustainable development which will support the implementation of the UPR recommendations. These are outlined as follows:

1. A National Mechanism for Reporting and Follow Up (NMRF) has been established with the help of the OHCHR advisor and the financial support provided by UNDP and the Government of New Zealand for the IT monitoring system being developed with operational resources being provided under the budget for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade, the focal point for the UPR. Cabinet provided its endorsement of the establishment of the NMRF in the first week of September.
2. The Office of the OHCHR conducted an induction workshop for the NMRF in the month of August which attracted a large number of stakeholders inclusive of government, NGO and Civil Society representatives.
3. As part of its integrated approach to addressing within and aligning all international platforms with the National Strategy for Sustainable Development (SDS) including the UPR, Samoa has adopted a framework for implementation which is based on 4 priorities and ensures that 'no one is left behind'. The Theme: Ensuring No One is Left Behind is significant because It requires particular attention to human rights and fundamental freedoms, non- discrimination, gender equality and the meaningful participation of civil society and youth. These are prerequisites for inclusive and sustainable development. The priorities include:
  - The promotion, respect, protection and fulfillment of all human rights and fundamental freedoms for all, without distinction of any kind, is indispensable to ensuring that no one is left behind
  - Inclusive and sustainable development can only be achieved with the realization of gender equality and the human rights and empowerment of all women and girls.

- Meaningful civil society and youth participation is a critical enabler of successful SDG implementation, and essential to effective global, regional, national and sectoral follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda.
- Capacity building for and investment in effective data collection and data disaggregation are needed in order to identify whether groups are being left behind. What gets measured, gets done, which means that particular emphasis needs to be placed on measuring progress for marginalised groups and those that have been left behind in the past.

Samoa's responses to the 38 recommendations are outlined as follows and are grouped by theme but treated individually:

I. International Instruments

Recommendations 96.27, 96.28, 96.29 and 96.30

Samoa remains committed to ensure that it ratifies all core human rights conventions to safeguard the citizens and their rights. However, Samoa will pursue the ratification of all international treaties on the basis of priorities, taking into account capacity and resource constraints in fulfilling obligations stipulated therein. Therefore, Samoa will note these recommendations.

The Government of Samoa, as it does all other conventions it is Party to, undertakes to continue the careful and active assessment of Samoa's accession to these remaining conventions that includes its ability to fulfil all obligations required by each convention such as reporting, legislative, financial and institutional requirements to ensure Samoa is able to deliver, upon becoming a State Party to these conventions.

Recommendation 96.20

Samoa thanks the Working Group members for this recommendation on the ratification of the optional protocol for CRC. Samoa was the first Pacific Island Nation to ratify the following three Optional protocols of the CRC on (i) the involvement of children in armed conflict ii) the sale of children and iii) prostitution of children in April and May 2016.

This shows Samoa's strong commitment in the protection of children from harmful practices that may affect their rights and freedoms. As such, Samoa accepts the part of recommendation 96.20 related to the ratification of the Optional Protocols to the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Furthermore the Childcare Protection Bill, which domesticates the Convention on the Rights of the Child encompasses the protection of children from violence, and set out standards for approved caregivers. Some of Samoa's development partners have also institutionalized child protection policies in the sectors they are engaged in and fund under their development cooperation programs.

Recommendations 96.4, 96.5, 96.2, 96.16 and 96.21

Samoa is party to the eight fundamental human rights International Labour Organization conventions. Government ensures that labour standards and regulations as prescribed by these ILO conventions are complied with. Samoa undertakes to consider and assess its accession to the Convention on the Protection of the Rights of All Migrant Workers and Members of their Families relative to its ability to meet treaty obligations. Samoa therefore notes these recommendations with the exclusion of the section of recommendation 96.2 related to CRPD.

Samoa has recently completed the CRPD legislative compliance review so that Government is able to establish legal frameworks that will support full implementation of the Convention. Samoa will ratify CRPD by December 2016. The Government of Samoa recognizes that people with disabilities should be empowered, their rights recognized and that they should be included in the mainstream of civil, political, social, cultural and economic life, therefore Samoa accepts the part of recommendation 96.2 related to the CRPD.

Already, programs for people with disabilities have begun with financial support from the Government of Australia including a program for inclusive education to ensure mainstreaming of children with special needs into the regular schooling system. The recent Pacific Forum Leaders meeting endorsed the Pacific Regional Framework for People with Disabilities.

Recommendations 96.6 and 96.22

Samoa recognizes the importance of the Convention on the Prevention of the Punishment of the Crime of Genocide however we believe that consultations between and among authorities and stakeholders are needed in order to fully understand and ensure we have the capacity to implement the Convention before a commitment is made to accede to it. Therefore, Samoa notes these recommendations.

Recommendation 96.26

Samoa recently enacted the Crimes Act 2013 which replaces and modernizes the Crimes Ordinance 1961 which came into force in 1 May 2013. The Crimes Act 2013 contains a range of new offenses including “computer-related offences, people smuggling and trafficking offences. Human Trafficking in the Crimes Act 2013 has a penalty of 14 years imprisonment. Samoa notes this recommendation on the grounds that the Government will continue its assessment of the implications of ratification to make sure it delivers on prescribed obligations upon becoming a state party.

Recommendations 96.1, 96.2, 96.3, 96.6, 96.7, 96.8, 96.9, 96.11, 96.12, 96.13, 96.14, 96.16, 96.17, 96.18, 96.19, 96.20, 96.21, 96.27, 96.23, 96.24, 96.25

With respect to the accession to ICESCR and its Optional Protocol, ICERD, the Government will continue its assessment of the implications of membership to make sure it is able to deliver on prescribed obligation upon becoming a state party. Thus far, Samoa notes recommendations in this regard.

Samoa has national legislation and policies in place such as the Ombudsman Act 2013, whereby the Office of the Ombudsman has the mandate to inspect all places of detention in Samoa. The Special Investigations Unit (SIU) established under the Ombudsman Act 2013, independently monitor and investigate complaints against the police and the other prescribed forces. In addition, the Prisons Act 2013 and the Prisons Regulation 2014 are national directives which set out the strategic direction of the work of the Samoa Prisons and Corrections Services. As such, Samoa notes recommendations to ratify CAT and its Optional Protocol. As explained above, recommendation 96.20 has been supported by Samoa with regard to the ratification of the Optional Protocols to the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Recommendations 96.15 and 96.10

Samoa has ratified ICCPR and it has formally abolished the death penalty in the Crimes (Abolition of Death Penalty) Amendment Act 2004, whereby the death penalty was commuted to life imprisonment. Samoa is making every effort to meet its international obligations as a party to ICCPR and will undergo consultations with relevant authorities on the ratification of the Optional Protocol of ICCPR. Therefore, Samoa notes these recommendations.

II. Domestic Legislation

Recommendations 96.38

The Childcare Protection Bill 2013, which contains a legislative and policy framework for the care and protection of children, also would domesticate the Convention on the Rights of the Child in its entirety. This bill also seeks to prohibit corporal punishment, which is partly prohibited in schools and day care settings. This work is on-going for Samoa in order to achieve prohibition in all settings, school, alternative care and at home, therefore this recommendation is noted.

In relation to eliminating child labour, the 1972 Labour and Employment Act was reviewed, whereby the newly enacted labour law, Employment Relations Act 2013 setting out work conditions for a 15 year old and 18 year old child. In addition, a Child Labour Taskforce has started in an attempt to implement basic strategies to address issues of 'children involved in vendor services' particularly during school hours. Compulsory education is essential in an effort to engage the compulsory aged child throughout the school hours in school rather than being involved in street trading during school hours.

The Education Act 2009 stipulates compulsory education under Part II, Division 4, and number 20. Despite financial constraints, Samoa with the support of the Government of Australia and New Zealand initiated the Samoa School Fees Grant Scheme (SSFSGS) to enhance the accessibility of basic school education by all children of Samoa from Year 1 to Year 11. In addition, the reservation on article 28 paragraph 1 (a) of the CRC is still in place; however Samoa has taken initial steps towards implementing free education, through the SSFSGS paid entirely by the Government for primary schools and three years of secondary schooling. The SSFSGS does not extend to the private schools which are eligible for Government grant funding on an annual basis

III. Equality and Non-discrimination

Recommendation 96.34, 96.31 and 96.36, 96.32, 96.33 and 96.35

Samoa continues to make efforts to ensure all citizens' rights regardless of their gender, are safeguarded. To note, SDG 5: Gender, focuses on empowering communities for sustainable development including mainstreaming gender equality in policy development.

The Constitution of Samoa declares the protection of fundamental rights and individual freedoms, regardless of gender. Decriminalizing sexual activity of sodomy and the repeal of all provisions criminalizing homosexual relations are not possible at this time because the issues require extensive consultations with balanced consideration of cultural sensitivities, religious beliefs of the Samoan society and human rights perspectives. The acceptance of this recommendation will go against the spirit of our Constitution which is founded on Christian principles. Consequently, Samoa notes these recommendations.

Following the consolidation of all Samoa's laws in 2007, all laws are now written in gender balance language.

IV. Protection and Promotion of Human Rights

Recommendation 96.37

A Specialist Family Violence Court has been set up to deal with family violence issues and child protection. In addition, Samoa has undertaken 16 Days of Activism on the Elimination of Violence against Women, White Ribbon Day and National Human Rights Day, International Day for Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect, which are just some of the major campaigns that have been coordinated jointly by Government, NGOs and community based organizations.

The Office of the Ombudsman in Samoa is an independent institution that protects and promotes human rights at a national level and has received 'A' status accreditation recently whereby it is compliant with the Paris Principles which is recognition of the work done since its establishment two years ago.

The Office of the Ombudsman observes an impartial approach to the conduct of investigations as well as observing procedural fairness at all times. Its role in raising awareness of human rights assists in the Government's efforts to reduce violence against women and girls.

Samoa has achieved a milestone in the legislation landscape with the passing of the Family Safety Act 2013, which provides greater protection of families and handling of domestic violence and related matters through the use of protection orders. Another notable legislation enacted is the Crimes Act 2013, which introduced several significant changes to provisions relating to sexual offences including a variety of forms of unwanted sexual contact and the criminalization of marital rape. The Gender Program funded by the Government of Australia and the UN country team contracts non-governmental organizations to deliver public awareness and community conversations through traditional drama cultural songs and dance. This recommendation is therefore accepted.

Conclusion

The Government of Samoa has much to be proud of in terms of goals and milestones achieved since its first UPR in 2011, and it remains committed to the promotion and protection of all its citizens. Challenges remain in the form of financial constraints and capacity however, the Government of Samoa is resolute in its efforts to address the challenges in order to ensure that every Samoan enjoys their basic rights. While there might still be contentious issues, the robustness of consultative mechanisms will ensure that awareness will be enhanced and that the richness of the diversity of views will bring about good outcomes for the country to pursue.
