* The present document was not edited before being sent to the United Nations translation services.

1. In this document, Montenegro presents its views on recommendations from the third UPR cycle. The document is the result of the joint work of Government institutions, representatives of judiciary and prosecution service, the Protector and NGOs.
2. During interactive dialogue on 22 January 2018, Montenegro received 169 recommendations. In the framework of the adopted Working Group's Draft Report, Montenegro accepted 151 recommendations (104.1–104.7; 105.1–105.144), of which 144 were accepted as recommendations which were either in the process of implementation or had been already implemented. Montenegro noted 3 recommendations (107.1, 107.2, 107.3), whereas 15 recommendations were left for further consideration (106.1–106.15).
3. In that regard, Montenegro herewith gives the following comments.

I The following recommendations do not enjoy support of Montenegro: 106.1–106.3, 106.7–106.8, 106.14–106.15.

4. Reasons for such position are as follows:

106.1; 106.2 – Montenegro maintains the position taken during the second UPR cycle (Addendum A/HRC/23/12/Add.1). Recently adopted Law on Foreigners strengthened legal framework for protecting rights of migrants legally residing in Montenegro. Therefore, the ICRMW ratification is unnecessary.

106.3 – Montenegro is fully committed to improving the situation of persons with disabilities. Besides amending the legislation on copyrights and related rights, accession to the Marrakesh Agreement would imply strengthened human and financial resources for its full implementation. In order to take responsible approach and fulfil obligations arising from potential accession to the Agreement, possibilities of its ratification are carefully being considered and consultations are held at national and international levels. Having in mind aforementioned and the fact that Montenegro as an EU candidate country harmonises its national legislation with EU standards, the recommendation is not acceptable at the moment.

106.7 – Criminal offence of torture is defined in the Criminal Code (CC), in the part which regulates criminal offences against rights and freedoms of humans and citizens. The basic form of the criminal offence is prescribed in paragraph 1 which reads that anyone who inflicts severe pain or heavy suffering, whether bodily or mental, to the other person in order to obtain from him or from a third part a confession or other information or in order to unlawfully punish or intimidate him, or to exert pressure over him or intimidate or exert pressure over a third party, or does so for other reasons based on discrimination shall be punished by a prison term from six months to five years. Paragraph 2 prescribes a qualified form of the criminal offence of torture by setting out that where this criminal offence is committed by a public official while acting in his official capacity, or where the offence was committed under his explicit or implied consent, or where a public official incited another person to commit the offence, he shall be punished by a prison term from one to eight years.

Incrimination of the criminal offence of torture is harmonised with CAT and European Convention on the prevention of Torture, and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishments. Analysis of definition of torture contained in other relevant international conventions and of the criminal offence set out by the CC leads to the conclusion that the perpetrator who commits criminal offence of torture may be any other person, besides the person in official capacity, and that this is a qualified form of a criminal offence if such criminal offence has been committed by the public official while acting in its official capacity. Through such incrimination, Montenegrin legislation expands the notion of torture by prescribing that the perpetrator of the basic form may be any person, because practice shows that torture may also be inflicted by members of criminal and other organisations, which is also confirmed by case law of the European Court of Human Rights.

Definition of torture contained in the CC is fully harmonised with the definition of torture set out in Article 1 of the CAT. Therefore, the recommendation is not acceptable.

106.8 – The intention of the Government is to embark on performing analysis of the range of penalties and non-applicability of statutory limitations to criminal offences in the CC, which will show in a methodologically detailed manner whether and in what part there is a discrepancy of the range of prescribed penalties and non-applicability of statutory limitations to criminal offences in the CC in respect of individual criminal offences, taking into account comparative experiences, experiences of EU Member States and relevant international documents on torture. Based on the results of analysis, the Government will engage in systemic harmonisation of the range of penalties and in resolving the issue of non-applicability of statutory limitations to certain criminal offences, including criminal offence of torture, which would properly and thoroughly regulate this matter. Therefore, the recommendation is not acceptable.

106.14 – The issue of accessibility is regulated in detail in the existing strategies for integration of persons with disabilities and their protection against discrimination, including relevant action plans. Action plans define the obligation to develop accessibility standards and improve and expand the existing legislation on accessibility, as well as to continuously adapt and reconstruct physical environment, means of transport, transport infrastructure, information and communication technologies, public facilities and services bearing in mind universal design concept. Therefore, it is not necessary to develop a separate accessibility strategy.

106.15 – Formulation of the recommendation on “thousands of stateless persons in the country” is not acceptable because it does not reflect factual condition, according to the results of the last public call for these individuals. The Law on Citizenship does not leave the possibility for individuals born in Montenegro to become stateless. In order to raise awareness about the importance of obtaining personal identification documents, activities will be continued to highlight importance of giving birth within the health system, obligation to register children in the registries of Montenegro or their country of origin, and support and assistance programmes in Montenegro for these individuals. Measures have been taken to establish records of individuals living in Montenegro, but not holding citizenship of any country, while assistance is provided to them primarily in RE settlements.

II Subsequently considered recommendations which enjoy full support of Montenegro and will be implemented

106.4–106.6, 106.9–106.13.

III In respect of all accepted recommendations, Montenegro herewith gives the following comments
