

General Assembly

Distr.: Limited
22 November 2019

Original: English

UNEDITED VERSION

Human Rights Council
Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review
Thirty-fourth session
Geneva, 4-15 November 2019

Draft report of the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review*

El Salvador

* The annex is being circulated without formal editing, in the language of submission only.

Introduction

1. The Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review, established in accordance with Human Rights Council resolution 5/1, held its thirty-fourth session from 4 to 15 November 2019. The review of El Salvador was held at the 2nd meeting, on 4 November 2019. The delegation of El Salvador was headed by H.E. Ms. Ana Geraldina Beneke Castaneda, Deputy Minister for Foreign Affairs, Integration and Economic Development. At its 10th meeting, held on 8 November 2019, the Working Group adopted the report on El Salvador.
2. On 15 January 2019, the Human Rights Council selected the following group of rapporteurs (troika) to facilitate the review of El Salvador: Burkina Faso, Japan and Mexico.
3. In accordance with paragraph 15 of the annex to Human Rights Council resolution 5/1 and paragraph 5 of the annex to Council resolution 16/21, the following documents were issued for the review of El Salvador:
 - (a) A national report submitted/written presentation made in accordance with paragraph 15 (a) (A/HRC/WG.6/34/SLV1);
 - (b) A compilation prepared by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) in accordance with paragraph 15 (b) (A/HRC/WG.6/34/SLV/2);
 - (c) A summary prepared by OHCHR in accordance with paragraph 15 (c) (A/HRC/WG.6/34/SLV3).
4. A list of questions prepared in advance by Belgium, Canada, Germany, Portugal, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Uruguay and United States of America was transmitted to El Salvador through the troika. These questions are available on the website of the universal periodic review.

I. Summary of the proceedings of the review process

A. Presentation by the State under review

5. The Delegation of El Salvador referred to the ratification of international instruments that it made and its efforts to harmonize its domestic legal framework to international human rights standards. It highlighted the creation of several institutions and the adoption of public policies focused on different groups of the population. El Salvador has paid particular attention to economic, social and cultural rights, public security, administration of justice and fight against impunity.
6. El Salvador ratified the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court and withdrew its reservation to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment. It also informed that the following laws had been adopted: the Access to Public Information Act (2011); the Special Act against Trafficking in Persons (2014); the Reparations for Moral Damage Act; the Special Act on Adoption; the Act on Culture; the Administrative Disputes Act; the Mental Health Act; the Administrative Procedures Act; the Special Act for the Regulation and Establishment of Employer-Sponsored Childcare Facilities; the Regulatory Improvement Act; the Elimination of Bureaucratic Barriers Act; the National Comprehensive Health System Act; and the Special Act on Migration and Alien Affairs (2019).
7. In relation to the rights of children, The delegation referred to the National System on Comprehensive Protection; the adoption of the National Policy on Comprehensive Protection of Children and Adolescents 2013-2023 and its National Plan of Action 2014-2019, which incorporates a model of indicators; the reform to the Family Code that eliminated child marriage; the development of communication campaigns for the prevention of child abuse and sexual abuse; and the amendment of the Child and Adolescent Protection Act (2017), which prohibited all forms of violence against children and adolescents in public and private educational establishments.

8. Regarding the rights of persons with disabilities, El Salvador withdrew the reservation to the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. In addition, it was implementing a National Policy on Comprehensive Attention of Persons with Disabilities and developed the National Survey of People with Disabilities. The delegation also referred to the extension of the educational strategy of the “support classroom” and the implementation of the Inclusive Education Policy; the approval of the Inclusive and Equitable Policy for the Effective Participation of Young Persons with Disabilities; the accessibility with which the public work is executed and the training provided to public servants in the Supreme Court of Justice and in the Council General's Office in the use of Salvadoran Sign Language.

9. On the rights of indigenous peoples, El Salvador has incorporated their constitutional recognition in 2014. In addition, it highlighted that a indigenous perspective has been incorporated in the next population and housing census; the adoption of protection and safeguard measures for the conservation of the Nahuat Cultural Heritage; the adoption of a National Policy for Indigenous Peoples and the National Plan of Action for Indigenous Peoples; as well as to the adoption of the National Health Policy of Indigenous Peoples.

10. In relation to the right to health, the delegation referred to the gradual increase in the budget of the Ministry of Health; capacity building activities organized on specialized attention to population groups; and the launch of the "National Health Plan" carried out by President Nayib Bukele, which included among its objectives the provision of medicines and medical supplies; while improving services and strengthening the preventive approach to health care.

11. In the field of education, El Salvador has implemented the National Literacy Programme, developed programmes to improve school infrastructure; and provided school meals programmes in selected public schools, and school kits in public schools nationwide.

12. Regarding the fight against poverty, El Salvador has implemented the “Poverty Eradication Strategy”. It has also adopted the National Housing and Habitat Policy (2015), and implemented specific programmes aimed at facilitating access to housing for women; young people; persons unable to afford regular financing. In addition, the minimum wage was increased in 2017.

13. Regarding public security, The Delegation indicated that the 2014-2019 Security Plan and the Territorial Control Plan had been being implemented since June 2019. The plans included the recovery of territories; restauration of the social and community fabric; the execution of public works; and the participation of all government departments under the coordination of the National Directorate for the restoration of the Social Fabric with the leadership of President Nayib Bukele.

14. In relation to the rights of migrants, El Salvador formalized the “National Policy on the Protection and Advancement of Migrants and Their Families” (2017); the “Coordination Committee for the Child and Adolescent Migrants”; the adoption of the Technical Guidelines for the reception, care and protection of returned children and adolescents (2014); and a Protocol for the Protection and Care of Salvadoran Child and Adolescents Migrants (2017). In addition, El Salvador adopted a Special Act on Migration and Alien Affairs, which includes a protection framework for vulnerable migrants. Moreover, El Salvador adhered to the Regional Integral Framework for Protection and Solutions (MIRPS) and developed a related National Action Plan.

15. Regarding the fight against impunity for crimes committed in the context of the internal armed conflict, El Salvador declared unconstitutional the General Amnesty Act for the Consolidation of Peace; created of a special unit within the Attorney General's Office to investigate cases from the internal armed conflict; issued a “Policy on the criminal prosecution of war crimes and crimes against humanity committed in the context of the armed conflict in El Salvador”; established the Intersectoral Committee on Restorative Justice, the National Commission on the Search for Adults who Disappeared during the armed conflict in El Salvador and removed the name of the responsible of massacres of El Mozote and places nearby –as indicated in the Report of the Truth Commission for El Salvador, from the facade of a military instalation, as order by the President.

16. In addition, El Salvador received the visit of various special procedures mandate holders, namely the Special Rapporteur on contemporary forms of slavery; the Special Rapporteur on the human right to safe drinking water and sanitation; the Special Rapporteur on the human rights of internally displaced persons; the Special Rapporteur on extrajudicial, summary or arbitrary executions; and the Special Rapporteur on the promotion of truth, justice, reparation and guarantees of non-recurrence.

17. El Salvador provided information on the approval of a mechanism responsible for the incorporation of international commitments in the planning and implementation of public policies from the Executive Branch; the creation of the Specialized Court for a Life Free of Violence and Discrimination for Women; the implementation of the National System of care for women facing violence; the adoption of the National Policy for a life free of violence for women and its 2016-2021 Action Plan; the launching of a strategy for the prevention of femicide and sexual violence (2018); the creation of the National System of Data, Statistics and Reports on Violence against Women; the update of the Protocol for the investigation of femicide; the creation of the National Directorate for Women, Children, Adolescents, LGBTI and vulnerable groups in the Prosecutor's Office; the elaboration of a Policy of criminal prosecution regarding violence against women; the implementation of the Spotlight Initiative, whose purpose is to eliminate all forms of violence against women and girls.

18. In the area of sexual and reproductive rights, the Delegation provided information on the draft Sexual and Reproductive Health Act; the study of a reform to the Special Comprehensive Act on a Violence-Free Life for Women, to incorporate obstetric violence within the types of violence affecting women; the National Intersectoral Strategy; the granting of pardon to two women convicted of committing acts related to obstetric emergencies and the commutation of sentences to five more women.

19. Regarding the measures adopted to guarantee the right to work, inspections were carried out by the Ministry of Labor and Social Security in different workplaces to verify employer's compliance with legal obligations, including respect for workers and trade union rights; and the establishment of the Higher Labour Council.

20. On the prevention and identification of child victims of trafficking, El Salvador provided information on the implementation of the "Blue Heart" campaign and the Coordination and Institutional Action Protocol for Victims of Trafficking."

21. On internally displaced persons and extrajudicial executions, the delegation referred to the inclusion of criminal offences to enable the right of access to justice for victims of forced displacement; the Draft Special Bill for the Attention of Victims of Internal Forced Displacement, the establishment of Local Offices for the Care of Victims and the creation of the "Roadmap of Inter-Institutional Coordination for the Comprehensive Assistance to Victims of Internal Displacement Caused by Violence" -a mechanism that is being transformed into an Action Protocol for Cases of Internal Forced Displacement; the implementation of the "Study of Characterization of Internal Displacement due to Violence in El Salvador" (2018); and the adoption of the Regional Comprehensive Framework for Protection and Durable Solutions.

22. Regarding the recommendations of the Special Rapporteur on extrajudicial, summary or arbitrary executions, El Salvador reported the approval of the conceptual framework for the use of force and the use of lethal weapons; the establishment of the Police Action Bureau; the creation of a system of indicators for the joint monitoring of the use of force by security forces; and the security strategy led by the President, aimed at the implementation of the "Territorial Control Plan".

23. Regarding deprivation of liberty and overcrowding in prisons, the "I Change" prison management model was being implemented and efforts were deployed to reduce overcrowding and the existence of the Penitentiary Information System.

24. Finally, El Salvador acknowledged the importance of the UPR and thanked States for their recommendations to which El Salvador was committed to analyse accordingly.

B. Interactive dialogue and responses by the State under review

25. During the interactive dialogue, 74 delegations made statements. Recommendations made during the dialogue are to be found in section II of the present report.
26. Fiji commended El Salvador for adopting the Environment Act, Environment Policy and National Plan on Climate Change, and for its efforts to prevent discrimination in civil service on the grounds of gender identity or sexual orientation.
27. France welcomed the ratification of several international instruments and measures taken in favour of women's rights.
28. Georgia welcomed the ratification of the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court and the withdrawal of reservations to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment.
29. Germany commended El Salvador for extending its standing invitation to Special Procedures mandate holders and finds its progress in reducing violence and diminishing prison overcrowding encouraging.
30. Guyana urged El Salvador to finalize the Regional Framework Law on the Human Right to Drinking Water and Sanitation, and congratulated the country for tackling racial and gender discrimination.
31. Holy See particularly noted El Salvador's initiatives to counteract social problems created by gangs and gang violence, and its progress towards peace and prosperity for all.
32. Honduras congratulated El Salvador for results achieved through the programme Ciudades Inclusivas and expressed satisfaction with the country's leadership in the Global Partnership to End Violence against Children.
33. Iceland welcomed El Salvador's efforts to achieve gender equality, including its gender-balanced cabinet, but remains concerned over the continued criminalization of women and girls for obstetric emergencies and miscarriages.
34. India noted El Salvador's measures to promote gender equality and health care, through initiatives such as the Comprehensive and Integrated Health-Services Networks and the National System for Substantive Equality.
35. Indonesia appreciated El Salvador's progress to meet the recommendations delivered during the second UPR review cycle.
36. Iraq welcomed El Salvador's adoption of new legislation and plans aiming at harmonizing the national legal framework with international human rights standards.
37. Ireland acknowledged El Salvador's adoption of the Second Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and encouraged the passing of legislation to ensure its implementation.
38. Italy welcomed improvements towards a more effective protection and non-discrimination of LGBTI persons, as well as the appointment of a new Attorney General for the protection of Human Rights.
39. Japan appreciates El Salvador's steps to promote women's and children's rights but remains concerned by reports of violence perpetrated by gangs, including homicide and vandalism in schools.
40. Lao People's Democratic Republic congratulated El Salvador's establishment of the special court for a Life Free of Violence and Discrimination for Women, and its policies to eliminate discrimination against women.
41. Lithuania welcomed El Salvador's efforts to improve its human rights environment.
42. Luxembourg welcomed El Salvador's signature of the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance and supported their efforts to eliminate discrimination against women.

43. Maldives welcomed El Salvador's adoption of the Special Comprehensive Act on a Violence-Free Life for Women and is encouraged by its National Plan on Climate Change.
44. Mexico recognized the adoption of a comprehensive approach to insecurity. It welcomed the reform of the Penal Code to incorporate hate crimes based on sexual orientation or gender identity.
45. Montenegro commended the ratification of the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court and acknowledged the improvements of policies regarding rights of vulnerable groups.
46. Morocco noted with satisfaction the withdrawal of the reservation to the Convention against Torture and the adoption of a law to combat human trafficking.
47. Myanmar welcomed efforts to bring domestic laws in line with international human rights standards, in particular the amendment of the Special Comprehensive Act on A Violence-free Life for Women.
48. Nepal welcomed efforts towards strengthening the Office of the Human Rights Advocate, and towards eliminating a greater chunk of contaminated waste and ozone depleting substances.
49. Netherlands expressed concern about the criminalization of abortion in all circumstances and the obligation of health professionals to report suspected abortions to the authorities. It was also concerned about a new Amnesty Law.
50. New Zealand made recommendations.
51. Nigeria noted with encouragement, the efforts to strengthen legal and institutional frameworks, with a view to ensuring the promotion and protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms.
52. Norway noted positive steps to strengthen women's rights, but remained concerned about legislation on abortion, and the high level of violence and homicides.
53. Panama welcomed the legislative framework and various policies to protect vulnerable groups, and the fruitful cooperation with human rights mechanisms. It urged to combat violence and address its root causes.
54. Paraguay commended El Salvador leadership on migrant children and adolescents, the Interagency Mechanism for the Implementation and Follow-up of International Human Rights Commitments, and actions guaranteeing indigenous peoples' rights.
55. Peru acknowledged efforts to combat delinquency and organized crime, and to resolve the economic and social situation.
56. Philippines noted policies and action plans for the youth, children, women and migrants, the country's human rights-based security policy and the strengthening of the judiciary.
57. Portugal welcomed efforts on women rights but was concerned at high violence against women and girls, and the lack of access to comprehensive sexual and reproductive health services.
58. El Salvador, replying to questions, indicated that a National Mechanisms for reporting and Follow-up has been created. It will promote the implementation of human rights recommendations. The mechanism's structure is being analysed.
59. In relation to women's rights, El Salvador highlighted the creation of the National System for Substantive Equality; the adoption of the "National Equality Plan 2016-2020"; the creation of Gender Equity and Equality Policies in public institutions; training processes on women's rights, equality and non-discrimination, a gender approach, the rights of vulnerable groups and inclusive language; the adoption of legal and psychosocial care protocols for people facing violence, both in the National Civil Police and the Attorney General's Office and the gender parity management Cabinet for 2019-2024. The delegation further indicated that a national study on gender violence and sexual orientation was being developed by the Ministry of Education.

60. Qatar commended programs and plans to improve living standards and national development, and the allocation of resources to education.
61. Republic of Korea commended efforts to strengthen the judiciary against violence and corruption but noted the high homicide rate and crimes. It appreciated measures to support and protect victims from violence, including women and children.
62. Russian Federation welcomed the accession to the Convention against Torture, the revision of legislation for better implementation of international treaties, the Special Rapporteurs' visits and dialogue with human rights mechanisms.
63. Senegal noted efforts regarding access to water and sanitation, and the adoption of the Special Act against Trafficking in Persons.
64. Serbia commended the withdrawal of reservations to the Convention against Torture and the adoption of the Territorial Control Plan to prevent and reduce violence.
65. Slovenia remained concerned about widespread violence against women and femicides, affecting minors. It encouraged strengthening the Specialized Court for a Life Free of Violence and Discrimination for Women. It welcomed the ratification of the Rome Statute.
66. Spain welcomed the Territorial Control Plan, the Directorate General for Women, Children, Adolescents, LGBTI and vulnerable groups, and the National Cross-sectoral Strategy for the Prevention of Child and Adolescent Pregnancy.
67. State of Palestine commended the cooperation with human rights mechanisms, and steps to combat racism and discrimination, and trafficking in persons, including through the National Council on Trafficking in Persons.
68. Sweden welcomed the pledge made to create an inter-ministerial roundtable to improve human rights. It urged for continued efforts towards sexual and reproductive health and rights of women and girls.
69. Timor-Leste noted the: Act on Equality, Equity and Elimination of Discrimination against Women, Special Comprehensive Act on a Violence-Free Life for Women, and repeal of the General Amnesty Act. It remained concerned about widespread violence.
70. Trinidad and Tobago commended the ratification of the Rome Statute, the Act on Equality, Equity and Elimination of Discrimination against Women, the commitment to education and the illiteracy rates' reduction.
71. The Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela noted pressing challenges, such as discrimination against vulnerable groups, the persistent shortage in the health system, the increase in school dropout, and violence against women.
72. Algeria congratulated El Salvador for the reduction in the number of young people who are neither in school nor in employment, the decrease in school drop-out and the decline in the number of homicides.
73. Angola commended El Salvador for establishing an open and fruitful relationship with several international human rights mechanisms.
74. Argentina congratulated El Salvador for the implementation of the Poverty Eradication Strategy and the signature of the Declaration on Safe Schools and its Guidelines.
75. Australia commended El Salvador on its peaceful national elections and progress in reducing violence in the country.
76. Austria commended legislative steps to enhance the protection of the rights of indigenous peoples and the rights of the child. It was concerned about the high levels of crimes against women, girls and LGBTI persons.
77. Azerbaijan welcomed public policies and strategies for the protection of child rights and the rights of migrants, prevention of sexual violence against women, and strengthening gender equality.

78. The Bahamas commended ongoing work to prevent violence among youth, the holistic and multi-sectoral approach to combat violence against women, and budgetary increases for education and health.
79. Belgium made recommendations.
80. Brazil welcomed the reform of the Family Code eliminating child marriage and appreciated measures to promote the rights of persons with disabilities. It regretted cases of child prostitution and the sale of children for the purpose of sexual exploitation.
81. Bulgaria noted with appreciation the enactment of the Law on Equality, Equity and Elimination of Discrimination against Women and the prohibition of child marriage.
82. Burkina Faso noted that, despite the efforts made by El Salvador, significant challenges remained, particularly in the field of protection of human rights defenders and the protection of women's rights.
83. Canada was concerned with reports of excessive use of force by law enforcement officials and urged El Salvador to fully investigate those allegations.
84. Chile was concerned about the persistence of stereotypes and prejudices about the role of women in society, which perpetuated violence against women, especially domestic violence.
85. China commended the five year development plan 2014-2019 and the implementation of the anti-poverty strategy. It welcomed national policies and plans in the field of education, public health and environmental protection.
86. Colombia commended the establishment of the Presidential Commissioner for Human Rights, the adoption of the Special Act against Trafficking in Persons and the measures adopted to fight corruption.
87. Costa Rica commended the implementation of the Safe El Salvador Plan to address violence and insecurity and noted El Salvador's progress in combating trafficking in persons and violence against women.
88. Croatia commended El Salvador's efforts to tackle femicide and violence against women and welcomed the reform of the Family Code banning child marriage. It encouraged El Salvador to take more steps to ensure the rights of women and girls.
89. Cuba noted progress in the reduction of poverty and the decrease in maternal mortality and illiteracy levels.
90. Cyprus noted efforts regarding the adoption of policies and strategies to combat femicide and violence against women, the "I'm Changing" prison management programme and the "Safe El Salvador" Plan.
91. Denmark commended El Salvador for its progress on women's rights by eliminating all exceptions to the prohibition of child marriage, but expressed concerns about the criminalization of abortion.
92. Dominican Republic acknowledged El Salvador's progress in developing a legislative and institutional framework to support the promotions and protection of human rights.
93. Ecuador noted the adoption of the Special Act on Migration and Alien Affairs, the adoption of public policies in relation to indigenous peoples and persons with disabilities, and the program on gender equality.
94. Egypt acknowledged efforts to advance human rights, including the right to education, employment, and health, with special attention to the youth, and the progress achieved combating violence against women.
95. Haiti recognized El Salvador's efforts to protect human rights in its territory, especially in relation to security issues, and outside its territory, in relation to temporary protected status.
96. Concerning actions to prevent and eliminate discrimination and to protect the life and integrity of LGBTI people, El Salvador indicated that it has established the Security and

Access to Justice Committee for LGBTI people and the Intersectorial Committee of Human Rights and Sexual Diversity in the context of deprivation of liberty. It has also adopted the Institutional Policy of the Ministry of Justice and Public Security for the Care of the LGBTI Population (2018) and its action plan for the 2018-2019 period; the reform of the Criminal Code to incorporate as an aggravating factor of criminal responsibility in the offences of Homicide and criminal Threats the motivation of “hatred of gender identity and expression or sexual orientation”; and the establishment of non-prescription of the penalty in those cases; the appointment of prosecutors for the investigation of cases whose victims are LGBTI persons; specialized training in hate crime investigation for reasons of sexual orientation and gender identity and expression, with emphasis on criminal investigation, search for forensic evidence and offering evidence at trials; and the existence of a draft Gender Identity Act under study before the Legislative Assembly.

II. Conclusions and/or recommendations

97. The following recommendations will be examined by El Salvador, which will provide responses in due time, but no later than the forty-third session of the Human Rights Council.

97.1 Ratify the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance (Brazil); (Costa Rica); (Honduras); (Iraq); (Lithuania); (Senegal); (Ukraine);

97.2 Redouble efforts to ratify international human rights treaties to which El Salvador is not yet a party, particularly the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance (Ecuador);

97.3 Engage in preventing all episodes of torture, arbitrary detentions, enforced disappearance as well as excessive use of force by the police forces, also by ratifying the International Convention for the Protection of All Persons from Enforced Disappearance (Italy);

97.4 Accelerate the completion of consultations to ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Georgia);

97.5 Consider the ratification of the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Chile); Tunisia);

97.6 Ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Denmark, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Ukraine)/ Sign and ratify the Optional Protocol to Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Spain);

97.7 Engage in preventing all episodes of torture, arbitrary detentions, enforced disappearance as well as excessive use of force by the police forces, also by ratifying the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (Italy);

97.8 Speed up the ratification process of the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (Cyprus)/ Accelerate the completion of consultations to ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (Georgia);

97.9 Ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, (Lithuania); (Spain); (Ukraine);

97.10 Ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women and adopt measures to protect women and LGBTI persons from violence (Germany);

- 97.11 Ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, and create a mechanism to encourage the participation of women in political and public life and in decision-making processes (Costa Rica);
- 97.12 Ratify the International Labour Organization Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169) (Honduras); (Paraguay);
- 97.13 Fully take into account the recommendations of the Committee on the Rights of the Child with a view to the effective implementation of the Convention (Austria);
- 97.14 Adopt an open, merit-based process when selecting its national candidates for United Nations Treaty Body elections (United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland);
- 97.15 Strengthen the Interagency Mechanism for the Implementation and Follow-up of International Human Rights Commitments (Paraguay);
- 97.16 Continue strengthening actions to implement and monitor the recommendations received and accepted in the UPR through the Inter-Agency Mechanism for Attention to, and the Implementation and Monitoring of the State's International Commitments in Human Rights, as well as achieving the establishment of a mechanism to provide linkage with the 2030 Agenda (Dominican Republic);
- 97.17 Continue to strengthen its legal and institutional frameworks for the promotion and protection of human rights (Nigeria);
- 97.18 Further strengthen the National Human Rights Institution, ensuring the allocation of sufficient resources to guarantee its independence and autonomy, in accordance with the Paris Principles (Colombia);
- 97.19 Undertake an inclusive process with a wide range of civil society representatives when implementing the UPR recommendations (Norway);
- 97.20 Increase its efforts to bring its legal provisions on racial discrimination in line with the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination and strengthen its efforts to eliminate discrimination against girls, particularly regarding their access to education (State of Palestine);
- 97.21 Maintain positive dynamics of aligning national legislation with international instruments (Azerbaijan);
- 97.22 Identify and implement policies that strengthen trust in law enforcement (Cyprus);
- 97.23 Intensify efforts in protecting rights of vulnerable groups (Azerbaijan);
- 97.24 Adopt the necessary measures to combat discrimination at all levels and safeguard the human rights of women and girls of ethnic minorities, persons with disabilities, migrants, internally displaced persons and other vulnerable groups, aligned with a gender perspective (Ecuador);
- 97.25 Continue to step up its efforts to combat violent crimes, especially those deriving from discrimination based on gender identity and expression or sexual orientation (Fiji);
- 97.26 Take further steps to address crimes against the person and particularly hate crimes and, in the latter regard, to conduct broad-based, periodic assessments of the efficiency and effectiveness of anti-discrimination policies and programmes (Guyana);
- 97.27 Encourage the Legislative Assembly to approve the Law on Gender Identity (Iceland);

- 97.28 Implement inclusive and anti-discriminatory policies with the aim of preventing, condemning and prohibiting all types of violence and discrimination against LGBTI persons (Iceland);
- 97.29 Ensure transparent, independent and impartial investigations of cases involving violence against women and LGBTI persons (Norway);
- 97.30 Continue to ensure protection in law and practice of the rights of vulnerable groups, including women, children, people with disabilities, older persons, and ethnic minorities (Russian Federation);
- 97.31 Enact legislation to prohibit discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity (Canada);
- 97.32 Protect the right to identity, as well as civil and political rights of the LGBTI community through the approval of the legislative or administrative measures necessary to guarantee the rights of persons with diverse sexual orientation or gender identity (Colombia);
- 97.33 Move forward with the adoption of a comprehensive law on gender identity to make possible the inclusion of trans persons in the society (Uruguay);
- 97.34 Adopt a comprehensive strategy to address discrimination against persons of African Descent including awareness-raising campaigns to promote tolerance and respect for diversity (Bahamas);
- 97.35 Ensure the full and effective participation of women, children and persons with disabilities in the execution of its National Plan on Climate Change at all levels of implementation and decision-making (Fiji);
- 97.36 Continue to take steps to mitigate the effects of climate change (Timor-Leste);
- 97.37 Strengthen the national strategy to address climate change including establishing a mechanism to respond to future droughts (Bahamas);
- 97.38 Continue to promote sustainable economic and social development, alleviate poverty and further raise people's living standards (China);
- 97.39 Implement economic and social development policies with a view to eliminating extreme poverty (Cyprus);
- 97.40 Continue to create capacity building programmes to sensitize legal enforcement officers of human rights in the exercise of their duties in ensuring public security, including in collaboration with other States (Indonesia);
- 97.41 Strengthen efforts in combatting and preventing all forms of violence, including sexual and gender-based violence, enforced disappearances, extrajudicial killings and torture while ensuring that measures taken are consistent with international human rights law (Lithuania);
- 97.42 Step up efforts in implementing Safe El Salvador plan, particularly its preventive and rehabilitative aspects (Montenegro);
- 97.43 Increase efforts to strengthen security and protection of citizens, through the allocation of resources and the effective implementation of laws in force, prioritizing prevention through mid and long-term cross-sectorial policies (Spain);
- 97.44 Continue their endeavours to improve their capacity to prevent violence and to tackle with the persistent challenges towards public order and human security (Turkey);
- 97.45 Establish an effective national mechanism for the prevention of torture (Ukraine);

- 97.46 Investigate and prosecute human rights violations and abuses by security forces and other government officials, including extrajudicial killings (United States of America);
- 97.47 Eradicate major prison overcrowding and improve poor prison conditions (Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela);
- 97.48 Put an end to the enforced disappearance of people; criminalize extrajudicial executions; prosecute and punish those responsible for these crimes, and offer due reparation to the victims (Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela);
- 97.49 Deepen its efforts to combat extrajudicial, summary or arbitrary executions, enforced disappearances, torture and all other acts of violence, strengthening the capacity and resources of the institutions for its investigation and punishment (Argentina);
- 97.50 Put in place measures to ensure that its domestic security policies and actions respect human rights, including mechanisms to prosecute human rights violations by security forces (Australia);
- 97.51 Abolish the death penalty for all crimes, noting that El Salvador has abolished the death penalty for ordinary crimes (Australia);
- 97.52 Review the policies and programmes addressing violence and the criminal acts committed by maras with a view to adopting more effective measures to prevent the killings and disappearances of children and their recruitment by criminal groups (Bulgaria);
- 97.53 Intensify efforts to improve detention conditions and overall reform of the operation of the penitentiary system (Russian Federation);
- 97.54 Enhance its efforts to reduce the high levels of violence and to protect the victims (Timor-Leste);
- 97.55 Improve its prison conditions by ceasing the extraordinary security measures in detention facilities (Denmark);
- 97.56 Improve public safety through various measures, including strengthening the investigative capacity of the Attorney General's Office, to ensure the proper investigation and prosecution of criminal cases (Japan);
- 97.57 Further strengthen its preventive and rehabilitative measures in combatting crimes, in particular, through campaigns targeting youth and the reintegration of former gang members (Republic of Korea);
- 97.58 Ensure that national reconciliation bills do not weaken the rights of victims by ensuring that they do not grant amnesty for certain categories of crimes, that they do not limit prosecution to a single non-reviewable list, and that they do not include a principle of avoidance of imprisonment for the majority of cases based on age limits (France);
- 97.59 Adopt specific measures to prosecute and bring to justice the perpetrators of sexual violence against women and girls and guarantee the fundamental right to security and freedom (Honduras);
- 97.60 Create a national plan to take joint measures with the objective of investigating, prosecuting and eradicating the high rates of impunity of gender-based violence (Iceland);
- 97.61 Continue the reform of the judiciary and public security institutions to prevent human rights abuses perpetrated by the security forces (Luxembourg);
- 97.62 Strengthen transitional justice measures, in order to investigate violations undertaken during the armed conflict and adopt a national comprehensive reparation policy to address the harm caused to victims (Morocco);

- 97.63 Consider adopting a law on comprehensive reparation for victims of the armed conflict (Peru);
- 97.64 Continue to reform the institutions of the judiciary and public security in order to prevent human rights violations by security forces (Serbia);
- 97.65 Eliminate impunity, including for corruption and gang-related crime, and increase the budget of the Attorney General's office for security force units handling such crimes (United States of America);
- 97.66 Accelerate implementation of transitional justice and provide adequate resources for crimes committed during the civil war, including the El Mozote massacre (United States of America);
- 97.67 Continue with the reform on the justice and public security institutions in order to allow for a better prevention and protection of human rights violations (Angola);
- 97.68 Take the necessary measures to guarantee the right of victims to truth, justice and reparation, avoiding the promulgation of provisions or norms contrary to international standards (Argentina);
- 97.69 Reinforce the rule of law and fight against impunity by investigating violent crimes in a prompt, thorough and impartial manner, whereby those responsible are prosecuted and punished and victims receive full reparation (Belgium);
- 97.70 Adopt comprehensive legislation on transitional justice that meets international human rights standards (Costa Rica);
- 97.71 Ensure that the International Commission against Corruption and Impunity in El Salvador (CICIES) is politically independent (Haiti);
- 97.72 Adopt a National Reconciliation legislation that takes into account the voices of the victims and helps to ensure truth, justice and reparation for the serious human rights violations committed during the armed conflict, and to avoid a bill that would that would promote impunity for those responsible for serious human rights violations committed in the past (Netherlands);
- 97.73 Confront the origins of violence and crime in a comprehensive manner, including by implementing a restorative justice approach, by fully investigating all human rights violations and ensuring that those responsible are brought to justice (Norway);
- 97.74 Ensure the rights of the victims of the armed conflict to truth, justice and reparation (Croatia);
- 97.75 Step up protection of human rights defenders and journalists and guarantee their right to work in a safe and enabling environment, including by conducting immediate, thorough and impartial investigations into all reported instances of threats, violence and intimidation against them (Ireland);
- 97.76 Adopt legislation that effectively recognizes and protects all human rights defenders, including LGBTI defenders (France);
- 97.77 Implement comprehensive public policies to ensure a safe and enabling environment for human rights defenders, journalists and other civil society actors, and take all necessary actions to ensure accountability for violence and attacks against them (Lithuania);
- 97.78 Adopt a law on the recognition and protection of human rights defenders and establish a mechanism for their protection (Mexico);
- 97.79 Take necessary measures to ensure respect and protection for the work of journalists and the media (Spain);
- 97.80 Punish those responsible for the continuing attacks, crimes, and murders of human rights defenders, journalists and LGBTI people, and guarantee the protection of these vulnerable groups (Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela);

97.81 Ensure effective protection of all human rights defenders, including LGBTI defenders and women human rights defenders, and ensure that crimes against them are promptly, thoroughly and impartially investigated (Austria);

97.82 Set up government policies that create a safe and respectful environment for the work of journalists and human rights defenders, especially women human rights defenders (Belgium);

97.83 Review current criminal legislation and adopt special legislative measures to protect human rights defenders and journalists (Maldives);

97.84 Continue to deepen measures aimed at preventing threats and acts of violence against human rights defenders (Argentina);

97.85 Investigate all reports of assault and harassment against human rights defenders (Burkina Faso);

97.86 Step-up measures to fight exploitation of children, particularly for criminal activities and trafficking (Myanmar);

97.87 Sustain its efforts in combating human trafficking (Nigeria);

97.88 Develop measures aimed at putting an end to practices comparable to slavery and at improving labour inspections in order to ensure respect of legal standards prohibiting forced labour (Senegal);

97.89 Develop a comprehensive strategy and action plan to prevent and combat the trafficking and sexual exploitation of women and girls, with a particular focus on victims of gang violence (Serbia);

97.90 Continue its efforts to prevent trafficking and develop a comprehensive action plan to combat trafficking in persons and sexual exploitation of women and girls (State of Palestine);

97.91 Continue efforts to combat human trafficking, especially of children (Tunisia);

97.92 Develop a comprehensive strategy and plan of action to prevent and combat trafficking and sexual exploitation of women and girls, with special focus on gang-related victimization (Ukraine);

97.93 Develop a national action plan to prevent and combat trafficking and sexual exploitation of women and girls, particularly by gangs, which includes increased institutional capacity for the identification and support of victims (United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland);

97.94 Follow through on 2018 efforts to decriminalize abortion in cases of rape or human trafficking; sexual abuse of a minor; risk to the health or life of the pregnant woman; or fatal fetal diagnosis, and enhance equal access to sexual and reproductive health services, in particular for adolescents (Canada);

97.95 Continue measures for the promotion and protection of the rights of migrants, particularly children and youth, as well as combating trafficking in persons (Egypt);

97.96 Invest in and allocate greater resources to education for youth so that they will have more opportunities to work in society (Japan);

97.97 Continue creating working opportunities for the youth, through social and education integration programmes and alliances with private companies (Panama);

97.98 Ensure the realization of the human rights to safe drinking water and sanitation by adopting adequate and effective measures and policies to improve the quality and quantity of water supplies (Germany);

- 97.99 Ensure the right to access to water and proper sanitation for all (Holy See);
- 97.100 Continue implementing the eradication of poverty strategy and enhancing the universal social protection system (India);
- 97.101 Continue to improve public facilities including access to clean water and a healthy environment for a decent livelihood as well as to incorporate an inclusive and social infrastructure component into public works projects (Indonesia);
- 97.102 Recognize the right to water and sanitation in legislation and adopt effective measures to improve the quality and quantity of water, particularly in border areas (Mexico);
- 97.103 Continue efforts to combat poverty and social exclusion (Morocco);
- 97.104 Take the necessary legal and policy actions in order to ensure the right to safe drinking water and sanitation and to combat the pollution of water resources, including in the context of mining (Portugal);
- 97.105 Prioritize ensuring the right to clean water and sanitation for all, including in rural areas (Bahamas);
- 97.106 Maintain and deepen efforts to eradicate poverty within the framework of the Universal Social Protection System (Cuba);
- 97.107 Step up efforts to protect the socio-economic rights of citizens (Russian Federation);
- 97.108 Improve the healthcare system and specifically provide further measures on infrastructure and resources for maternal health, including midwife training, with a focus on healthcare for mothers and babies through pregnancy and childbirth (Holy See);
- 97.109 Develop healthcare programmes, prioritizing the prevention of adolescent pregnancies, that include access to comprehensive sexuality education as well as access to contraception, with particular attention to zones of high vulnerability (Iceland);
- 97.110 Increase access to sexual and reproductive health services, giving priority to sexual education, dissemination and access to contraceptive methods, including emergency contraception, in areas with high rates of sexual violence (Mexico);
- 97.111 Guarantee women's sexual and reproductive health and reproductive rights, by amending legislation on abortion, in a transparent consultation process that includes civil society (Norway);
- 97.112 Take concrete steps to guarantee the full enjoyment of sexual and reproductive health and rights of all women and girls (Sweden);
- 97.113 Adopt a medical performance protocol to address cases of women facing obstetric emergencies, that includes a clause on professional confidentiality bringing security to medical personnel in order for them to practice all necessary medical procedures to protect the life and health of women without being prosecuted criminally (Uruguay);
- 97.114 Increase the health budget to provide quality care; reduce inequalities and improve the public health infrastructure (Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela);
- 97.115 Increase the health budget in order to provide quality care, reduce inequalities and improve the infrastructure and coordination of public health institutions (Algeria);

- 97.116 Conduct a comprehensive analysis of access to reproductive health services and contraception, and put in place a strategy aimed at reducing adolescent pregnancies (Angola);
- 97.117 Promote measures to improve access to health care for women in poor or rural areas (Brazil);
- 97.118 Ensure comprehensive sexuality education at all levels, with updated information from a human rights perspective for the prevention of teenage pregnancies (Honduras);
- 97.119 Adopt immediate measures to provide for sexual and reproductive health and rights for women in El Salvador, particularly in areas with high rates of sexual violence, including comprehensive sexuality education and access to safe and effective contraceptive methods (New Zealand);
- 97.120 Maintain the comprehensive strengthening of the public health system and continue increasing the coverage of primary care (Cuba);
- 97.121 Continue efforts aimed at ensuring access to free and quality education for all children and adolescents, and to improve infrastructure conditions (Georgia);
- 97.122 Implement effectively the national education plan in order to prevent adolescents and young persons from joining criminal gangs or being exploited (Holy See);
- 97.123 Make further efforts in providing conditions for lower drop-out rates from schools, particularly girls' attendance (Montenegro);
- 97.124 Provide primary education for all children free of charge (Qatar);
- 97.125 Increase the budget allocated to education, designating greater resources for programmes to eradicate illiteracy and reduce school dropout, particularly in communities where high rates of violence persist (Costa Rica);
- 97.126 Take measures to speed up the eradication of inequalities in access to education between girls and boys, with increased efforts in rural areas (Croatia);
- 97.127 Improve access to the right to education for all children by overcoming impediments faced by the vulnerable sections of population (Nepal);
- 97.128 Provide the human, technical and financial resources necessary for the effective implementation of the national plan for education (Serbia);
- 97.129 Increase the budget and quality in education; ensure adequate infrastructure; eliminate gender gaps and gaps between rural and urban areas; eradicate strong illiteracy, and combat more effectively school dropout (Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela);
- 97.130 Continue promoting measures for achieving full literacy and the prevention of school dropout (Chile);
- 97.131 Ensure adequate quality of education and infrastructure, with special attention to vulnerable groups and eliminating gender gaps and between rural and urban areas, to eliminate illiteracy and prevent school dropout (Algeria);
- 97.132 Step up its efforts to ensure the accountability of perpetrators of femicide and violence against women and girls (Republic of Korea);
- 97.133 Increase efforts to prevent violence against women and femicides, especially targeting women in more vulnerable situations, as well as to raise awareness and guidance for those involved in the provision of care to victims (Spain);
- 97.134 Continue to take holistic approach to promote gender equality and to combat all form of violence against women, including through awareness raising to the general public and state's apparatus on the rights and safety of women (Indonesia);

97.135 Take the necessary measures to stop sexual exploitation perpetrated against women and girls by criminal gangs (Iraq);

97.136 Redouble efforts aiming to end violence against women (Iraq);

97.137 Increase efforts to prevent, combat and punish all acts of violence against women and girls, including by ensuring that the institutions and programmes involved in this work are provided with adequate human, financial and technical resources (Ireland);

97.138 Fully implement existing legislation on the protection of women against all forms of violence and discrimination, strengthen the efforts to fight domestic violence and decriminalize abortion when the life of the mother is at risk and/or the pregnancy is the result of rape (Italy);

97.139 Speed up the adoption of legislation reinforcing the prominent role of the Salvadoran Institute for the Development of Women and strengthen the Ciudad Mujer programme to effectively combat sexual violence and gender-based violence against girls (Luxembourg);

97.140 Strengthen its ongoing measures to prevent all forms of violence against women and girls, and femicide (Myanmar);

97.141 Continue its comprehensive approach to support services to women and child victims of violence and abuses (Myanmar);

97.142 Further enhance the provision of services to victims of domestic violence, sexual abuse and child abuse, including addressing the root causes (Philippines);

97.143 Continue in the development of national policies on the prevention of gender-based violence and discrimination and advance its progress in strengthening provisions against all forms of racial discrimination (Trinidad and Tobago);

97.144 Confront the increase in gender violence with adequate services and legal advice; guarantee access to justice for women and eradicate impunity in these cases (Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela);

97.145 Continue its work to combat violence against women and children, take measures to protect victims of violence based on their sexual orientation and gender identity, and allocate adequate resources for programmes ensuring the full enjoyment of the rights of women, children and LGBTI persons (Australia);

97.146 Ensure protection of women's rights and strengthen the fight against gender-based violence (Austria);

97.147 Step up efforts to prevent, combat and punish all acts of violence against women, including domestic violence and sexual violence, by allocating adequate resources to the specialized jurisdiction for crimes against women and specialized institutional support units for women in the police force (Belgium);

97.148 Investigate all reports of sexual violence against women and girls and prosecute and punish perpetrators of such acts (Burkina Faso);

97.149 Allocate sufficient human and financial resources to institutions mandated to prevent gender-based violence, to bring more perpetrators to justice and assist more victims (Canada);

97.150 Strengthen policies aimed at combating domestic and sexual violence, femicide and discrimination against the LGBTQI community (Cyprus);

97.151 Provide financial resources for the comprehensive approach to combating violence against women, to follow up on the 67 recommendations made in El Salvador on women's rights in the first two cycles (Haiti);

- 97.152 Guarantee health, sexual and reproductive rights by enabling safe and legal abortion in all situations and for all women and girls; ensure that those who resort to abortion, as well as those who practise it, are not subject to criminal sanctions (France);
- 97.153 Adopt legislation on abortion that is in line with international human rights obligations, taking into account indicators such as medical risks, rape and incest, and ensure improved access to appropriate methods of contraception and comprehensive sexuality education (Germany);
- 97.154 Reject calls to further liberalize abortion laws while reaffirming and implementing laws and social programmes that promote family life, support single mothers and that protect the right to life of the unborn child in all circumstances (Holy See);
- 97.155 Guarantee access to safe and legal abortion, by repealing laws criminalizing abortion as a first step (Sweden);
- 97.156 Decriminalize abortion as well as adopt measures to avoid the incarceration of women as a result of obstetric emergencies and miscarriages (Iceland);
- 97.157 Promote an open and inclusive national dialogue on abortion with a view to reconciling the differing positions and lifting the absolute ban on abortion to safeguard women's rights to life, health, autonomy and wellbeing (Lithuania);
- 97.158 Decriminalize abortion, at least in those cases that were allowed in legislation until 1998, namely, when there is a risk to the health or life of the mother, when the fetus has serious congenital deformations, and when the pregnancy results from rape or sexual abuse (Mexico);
- 97.159 Legalize abortion, if not completely, at least in cases of incest and rape, fetal impairment and in cases in which the mother's life or health is in danger, bringing the law in line with several human rights conventions (Netherlands);
- 97.160 Review the total prohibition of abortion and the criminalization and detention of women for so-called abortion-related offences under Article 133 of the Criminal Code (New Zealand);
- 97.161 Amend its anti-abortion legislation to remove the obligation of health professionals and public officials to report women to the police based on a suspicion of abortion (New Zealand);
- 97.162 Decriminalize abortion and ensure that safe and legal abortion services are available for those women and girls whose pregnancy is a result of rape or whose lives or health are put at risk, as previously recommended (Slovenia);
- 97.163 Review laws that criminalise the use of abortion and ensure access to sexual and reproductive health services for all women and girls, and ensure women are not criminally prosecuted for suffering a miscarriage (United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland);
- 97.164 Decriminalize abortion, especially in cases of rape or in risky pregnancies for the mother, and promote necessary measures so that judicial authorities respect in this area the principle of presumption of innocence and the right to due process (Spain);
- 97.165 Make the necessary constitutional and legislative amendments in order to decriminalise and remove the ban on abortion (Australia);
- 97.166 End the unjust imprisonment of women who have had obstetric emergencies (Sweden);
- 97.167 End detention of women who are wrongfully convicted for homicide after having suffered a miscarriage (Belgium);

- 97.168 Adopt the necessary legislative measures to prevent women from being criminalized for experiencing miscarriage and to ensure that women do not face disproportionate sanctions due to obstetric emergencies (Colombia);
- 97.169 Remove health professionals' and public officials' obligation to report women to the police based on a suspicion of abortion and to suspend any criminal investigations into suspected abortions based on these reports (Denmark);
- 97.170 Adopt necessary measures to prevent that women are punished for having suffered obstetrics complications or emergencies (Panama);
- 97.171 Review national legislation to eliminate the provisions that require the preventive detention of women who have suffered obstetric emergencies or miscarriage (Chile);
- 97.172 Consider the possibility of passing a law for comprehensive care, protection and reparation for victims of gender violence (Ecuador);
- 97.173 Continue its approach of the national support system to women affected by violence (Lao People's Democratic Republic);
- 97.174 Design specialized interagency protocols for the provision of care to girls and adolescents victims of sexual violence (Peru);
- 97.175 Continue measures for effective promotion of gender equality and elimination of discrimination against women, particularly on gender-based wage discrimination (India);
- 97.176 Continue its efforts to implement the national policies and programmes aimed at further promoting gender equality in both public and private sectors (Lao People's Democratic Republic);
- 97.177 Continue to take necessary steps for the implementation of legal frameworks to combat all forms of discrimination and violence against women (Nepal);
- 97.178 Continue efforts aimed at combating all forms of discrimination against women, girls and ethnic minorities (Senegal);
- 97.179 Strengthen its efforts to eliminate discrimination against girls, in particular regarding their access to education and to sexual and reproductive health (Timor-Leste);
- 97.180 Continue efforts to combat discrimination against girls, particularly with regard to the right to education and the right to reproductive health (Tunisia);
- 97.181 Guarantee women's access to justice (Ukraine);
- 97.182 Fully implement the 2016 Law on Equality, Equity and Elimination of Discrimination against Women (Bulgaria);
- 97.183 Improve access to health care for poor women or women living in rural areas (Burkina Faso);
- 97.184 Continue efforts to eliminate all forms of discrimination against women, through the effective implementation of the National Equality Plan of 2016 (Cuba);
- 97.185 Continue to consolidate the achievements made in the promotion of rights, equality and well-being of women and girls (Dominican Republic);
- 97.186 Further strengthen the implementation of its economic empowerment projects to address the financial exclusion of women (Philippines);
- 97.187 Continue to take legislative and administrative measures to better protect the rights of women and children (China);

- 97.188 Combat the social exclusion of minors and find a solution to the growing number of unaccompanied minors from El Salvador who emigrate to other countries in the region (France);
- 97.189 Strengthen measures for ensuring the rights of children and adolescents in health and education (India);
- 97.190 Take further measures to promote the respect of children's rights, including by fighting against child labour and by implementing measures aimed at preventing child, early and forced marriages (Italy);
- 97.191 Continue to build the national child protection system and ensure that it has adequate capacity to protect children at risk (Maldives);
- 97.192 Promote a national campaign to prohibit and punish the forced non-matrimonial unions of girls and adolescents (Panama);
- 97.193 Ensure the full implementation of its National Plan for the Protection of Children and Adolescents (Philippines);
- 97.194 Elaborate necessary measures to prevent recruitment of minors by gangs, in particular by increasing opportunities for children and young people through programmes to enhance social integration, strengthen families and provide education (Ukraine);
- 97.195 Accelerate the reform of the Family Code, repealing exceptions to the minimum age of 18 years for marriage and design policies aimed at raising public awareness about the negative consequences of early marriage for girls and adolescents (Chile);
- 97.196 Preserve the family as the main unit for the development of society (Egypt);
- 97.197 Make efforts to promote bilingual education for indigenous peoples (Paraguay);
- 97.198 Strengthen the policies for revitalizing the Náhuatl language, as well as the cultural identities of indigenous peoples (Peru);
- 97.199 Develop water management standards that consider the special needs of the most vulnerable groups, especially rural populations and indigenous peoples (Peru);
- 97.200 End discrimination against indigenous peoples, and guarantee the return of their ancestral lands (Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela);
- 97.201 Continue to make multisectoral efforts to guarantee access to justice for indigenous peoples, both individually and collectively (Colombia);
- 97.202 Develop community-based and people-centred mental health services which, in line with the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, respect the rights, will and informed preferences of persons with mental health conditions or psychosocial disabilities (Portugal);
- 97.203 Adopt a human-rights based approach to persons with disabilities (Bulgaria);
- 97.204 Establish national mechanisms that guarantee to persons with disabilities the enjoyment of their rights to work, health and education (Qatar);
- 97.205 Continue strengthening the achievements and progress through the Coordinating Committee for the Care of Migrant Children and Adolescents, in favour of the promotion of the rights, well-being and protection of migrant children (Dominican Republic);
- 97.206 Implement comprehensive measures to protect internally displaced persons in terms of housing, education, livelihood, etc (Republic of Korea);

97.207 Adopt a national legal and policy framework to prevent and respond to internal displacement in accordance with the Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement (Austria).

98. All conclusions and/or recommendations contained in the present report reflect the position of the submitting State(s) and/or the State under review. They should not be construed as endorsed by the Working Group as a whole.

Annex

Composition of the delegation

The delegation of El Salvador was headed by H.E. Ms. Ana Geraldina Beneke Castaneda, Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs, Integration and Economic Promotion and composed of the following members:

- H.E Mr. Joaquín Mazza Martelli, Ambassador and Permanent Representative of El Salvador;
 - Ms. Ana Elizabeth Cubías, General Director of the Comprehensive Social Development, Ministry of Foreign Affairs;
 - Ms. Tania Camila Rosa, General Director for Human Rights, Ministry of Foreign Affairs;
 - Ms. Gloria Martinez, Director of International Human Rights Protection Systems, Ministry of Foreign Affairs;
 - Mr. Gustavo Argueta, Deputy Permanent Representative of El Salvador;
 - Ms. Rosibel Menéndez, Counsellor Minister;
 - Ms. Beatriz Alfato, Counsellor;
 - Ms. María José Grenadino, 2nd Secretary.
-