136.26 Prohibit the detention of unaccompanied children in law and end it in practice, and increase shelter capacity for unaccompanied children seeking asylum (Belgium). Source of position: A/HRC/33/7/Add.1 Comments: A/HRC/33/7/Add.1 states: 136.25 Greece accepts the first part of the recommendation. Greece, however, cannot accept the second part of the recommendation. In accordance with relevant EU legislation, there is not an “automatic judicial examination of return decisions”; there is, however, an automatic judicial examination of detention decisions of returning third country nationals (Article 30 of Law 3907/2011) and detention decisions of asylum seekers (article 46 of Law 4375/2016). Third country nationals may lodge the quasi-judicial appeal provided by Article 77 of Act 3386/2005, against return decisions issued by police authorities. Against return decisions incorporated in decisions rejecting the request to grant or renew a residence permit, as well as in decisions revoking a valid residence permit, third country nationals are entitled to appeal under Article 24 of the Administrative Procedure Code. Administrative bodies responsible for deciding on the appeals lodged under paragraph 1 have the power to review, ex officio, both the legality and the merits of return decisions and temporarily suspend their implementation. Judicial and provisional legal protection against return decisions is provided by Act 3900/2010. 136.19 Recognize the Roma as a minority and continue to improve the standards in housing, education and health care (Germany); Source of position: A/HRC/33/7/Add.1 Comments: A/HRC/33/7/Add.1 states: 136.19 Greece cannot accept this recommendation, to the extent that it refers to the recognition of the Roma as “minority”. In fact, Greek Roma constitute an integral part of the Greek population; they are Greek citizens and enjoy full citizenship rights, as well as all civil and political, economic, social and cultural rights. However, they are not considered as a minority, but as a social group in vulnerable situation. In fact, the Roma themselves, through their representative organizations, have refused to be considered as a “minority”. The challenges facing the Roma can be tackled through the design and implementation of social policies and programs and not on the basis of ethnic criteria, since the Roma themselves do not wish to rely upon such criteria. Greece accepts the second part of this recommendation, which refers to the improvement of standards in housing, education and health care. In fact, the Greek authorities have adopted and are implementing special (positive) measures and actions in the abovementioned fields, taking into consideration the specificities and the particular characteristics and lifestyle of the Roma.	Supported/ Noted	G1 Members of minorities E41 Right to health - General E51 Right to education - General E23 Right to adequate housing Affected persons: - minorities/ racial, ethnic, linguistic, religious or descent-based groups	Partially implemented
